(vi) any person convicted of an offence and sentenced to imprisonment under the corresponding sections of the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure as applied by order under the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, or by the authority of any Prince or State in India ;

(vii) any person convicted by a court or tribunal acting outside India under the general or special authority of His Majesty of an offence which would have rendered him liable to be classified as a habitual criminal if he had been convicted in a court established in British India.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this definition the word "conviction" shall include an order made under section 118, read with section 110, of the Criminal Procedure Code.

II.—The classification of a convicted person as a habitual criminal should ordinarily be made by the convicting court, but if the convicting court omits to do so, such classification may be made by the District Magistrate, or, in the absence of an order by the convicting court or District Magistrate, and pending the result of a reference to the District Magistrate, by the officer in charge of the jail where such convicted person is confined :

Provided that any person classed as a habitual criminal may apply for a revision of the order.

III.—The convicting court or the District Magistrate may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, direct that any convicted person or any person committed to or detained in prison under section 123, read with section 109 or section 110 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, shall not be classed as a habitual criminal and may revise such direction.

IV.—Convicting courts or District Magistrates as the case may be, may revise their own classifications, and the District Magistrate may alter any classification of a prisoner made by a convicting court or any other authority, provided that the alteration is made on the basis of facts which were not before such court or authority.

NOTE.—The expression "District Magistrate" wherever it occurs in paragraphs II, III and IV above means the District Magistrate of the district in which the criminal was convicted, committed or detained. The expression includes a Presidency Magistrate.

V.—Every habitual criminal shall as far as possible be confined in a special jail in which no prisoner other than habitual criminals shall be kept :

Provided that the Inspector-General of Prisons may transfer to this special jail any prisoner, not being a habitual criminal, whom, for reasons to be recorded in writing, he believes to be of so vicious or depraved a character and to exercise, or to be likely to exercise, so evil an influence on his fellow prisoners that he ought not to be confined with other non-habitual prisoners, but a prisoner so transferred shall not otherwise be subject to the special rules affecting habitual criminals.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and that a copy be forwarded to local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

Simla, the 23rd September 1922.

No. F.-67-III-Ests.—The following announcement by the Secretary of State, dated the 23rd September 1922, is published for general information :—

The Royal Commission on the Public Services in India, who considered inter alia the pensionary conditions of the various civil services of the Government of India, recommended that the 4 per cent. deductions made from the pay and certain other emoluments of members of the Indian Civil Service as a contribution towards their annuity of £1,000 a year on retirement, should be funded for the benefit of the individual officers, subject to the proviso that the concession should not operate retrospectively in respect of deductions already made. This recommendation was approved by the Secretary of State in Council, with effect from the 1st April 1919. The deductions made from that date have accordingly been set aside in a Provident Fund, the accumulations in which, with compound interest, will be handed over to the officer on retirement, or to his legal representatives if he should die before retirement. No alteration has been made in the annuity itself, and an officer entering the service on or after the date mentioned will receive his annuity entirely at the expense of the State.

2. Since the decision was announced various memorials have been received by the Government of India and the Secretary of State praying for some extension of this 'funding concession' so as,—

(1) to allow of somewhat larger benefits than are admissible under it to officers who entered the service before 1st April 1919 and who will therefore have contributed in varying degrees to their annuities, and

(2) to secure some benefit to officers who had actually retired before that date. It was pointed out that whereas under the recommendations of the Public Services Commission members of other civil services in India who retired after the 23rd July 1913 were permitted as from 1st April 1919 to draw the full enhanced pensions sanctioned for those services, members of the Indian Civil Service received less favourable treatment in two respects :—

Firstly, those who retired between 1913 and 1919 received no benefit ;

Secondly, those who retired in years immediately following 1919 would receive only the small sums resulting from their pay as from April of that year while the full benefit of the change would accrue only to those who entered the service after that date.

The Secretary of State in Council has now been pleased to sanction refunds to the following extent of the individual contributions towards annuity made by members of the service before the 1st April 1919 when the funding concession came into effect, viz.:—

A. Officers who retired at any date from 24th July 1913 to 31st March 1919 inclusive, to receive a grant of £500, officers who retired in 1919-20 to receive a refund of £480, and so on, the amount being reduced by £20 with each year until 1943-44, in which year officers retiring would receive nothing.

B. In the case of invalid and proportionate pensioners, the refunds specified in A will be proportionately reduced.

C. The cases of officers who have already retired or who may hereafter be retired on reduced annuities will be individually considered on their merits.

D. In the case of officers who have retired and died since 23rd July 1913 payment of the sums which would have been admissible to the officers if now living will be made to the legal representatives.

E. In the event of an officer who was in the service on the 24th July 1913, or who entered it between that date and 31st March 1919, inclusive, having died or dying before retirement, payment will be made to his legal representatives of any refund which would have been admissible to him under the terms of this announcement if he had been invalided at the date when his death occurred.

F. The amount payable under this decision to officers already retired or to their legal representatives will be issued by the High Commissioner for India, or the Government of India, as the case may be, according as the annuities have been drawn in England or in India, respectively.

G. To officers already retired the refund will be payable as soon as arrangements can be made. To those still in the service payment will be made on retirement. No application need be made by the officer. In both classes of cases no interest whatever will be payable.

H. Where an officer wishes to draw the refund in rupees the sterling amount payable will be convertible into rupees at the rate of exchange current at time of payment.

H. TONKINSON,
Joint Secretary to the Government of India.

The Report on the Police Administration in the Bengal Presidency for the year 1921.

The report for the year 1920 and the resolution of Government recorded thereon.

MR. R. B. HYDE resumed charge of the department as Inspector-General of Police on the 3rd January 1921 on return from leave.

2. The strength of the military police remained unchanged, but its disposition was altered, the detachment located at Chinsura being strengthened by one Indian officer and 56 men transferred from the headquarters force at Dacca. Two officers of the Indian Army relieved two police officers as Assistant Commandants, and the battalion has now its full complement of officers. Its services were invaluable during the periods of industrial and political unrest when disturbances were threatened or took place; officers and men performed their duties with cheerfulness, efficiency and restraint.

3. A revised time-scale of pay was sanctioned for officers of the Imperial Police Service, and effect was given to the enhanced rates of pay granted to Deputy Superintendents and inspectors. The strength of the subordinate police force was increased by 46 officers and 312 men, chiefly on account of the reorganization of the town police of Hooghly district and the strengthening of the emergency force at Asansol. In addition to these two industrial tracts it was intended to strengthen the force in the urban areas of the 24-Parganas district by introducing part of the reorganization scheme sanctioned some years before, and funds were voted for the purpose. But later in the year the financial position rendered it necessary to keep this important improvement once more in abeyance. For similar reasons it has not been possible to provide an adequate reserve of force at the industrial centres of Howrah and Serampore, or to supply sufficient motor transport to add to the mobility of the police forces in the thickly populated localities on both banks of the Hooghly. It is gratifying that the improved conditions of service effected in the previous year have had a salutary effect on the recruitment of the subordinate ranks : vacancies due to resignations among constables were considerably fewer than in preceding years. The proportion of Bengali recruits however fell from 65·1 to 47·1 per cent., and the Inspector-General notes that the want of family quarters for constables renders the service less attractive for the best type of local men. But the post of assistant sub-inspector was much sought after, and recruits with good educational qualifications were obtained. In connection with the strength of the force, the Inspector-General has brought to notice the need for a reserve beyond the ordinary reserve for leave and training, in order to provide men for unforeseen and temporary duties. The strength of district forces has been fixed for normal work, often many years ago when circumstances were different, with the result that the extra men required to deal with serious outbreaks of crime, strikes or other emergencies can only be found by depleting the staff assigned to other work or by curtailing the grant of leave. The leave reserve of sub-inspectors and constables was increased in recent years, but without further experience its general adequacy cannot be determined. Certainly in many districts it has still to be unduly drawn upon to find men for miscellaneous work for which there is no cadre provision, and also to supply extra forces for duties for which the sanctioned staff is found to be inadequate ; in particular there is general agreement among local officers that the allotted staff for escort purposes is insufficient.

4. Discipline was on the whole well maintained, and the Governor in Council endorses the Inspector-General's testimony to the force that "with a few exceptions all ranks behaved with exemplary loyalty under most trying circumstances at a time when adverse economic conditions, industrial unrest and other causes added to the difficulties of police work." There was a decrease in the number of complaints and civil suits brought against the police by the members of the public, and the number of those judicially punished fell from 328 to 247. In no case was an unfavourable comment of police action made by the High Court or any Court of Sessions. At the same time the number of those rewarded for good work increased from 6,316 to 6,468.

5. The health of the force was slightly better than in previous years, but still not satisfactory, malarial fever being responsible for most of the illness. It has often been pointed out that men who are poorly housed and inadequately equipped are bound to show a high incidence of sickness, and the Inspector-General notes that the town police suffer especially on this account. Since the close of the year it has been possible to allot limited funds for the purchase of mosquito nets, bed cots and waterproofs for a small proportion of the staff, but a rapid improvement of the conditions which adversely affect the health of the force cannot unfortunately be hoped for in the present state of provincial finances.

6. The river police system which has been gradually evolved in recent years was modified in the light of experience gained. In the big rivers of the Ganges division (opened in 1917) and the Brahmaputra division adequate patrol cannot be undertaken without larger launches with search-lights. But as serious crime is not prevalent in these localities, river patrols are not essential. For this reason and also as a measure of economy, the floating craft together with the personnel of these two divisions were brought to headquarters towards the end of the year. Proposals to redistribute the river police jurisdictions and to give effect to the long contemplated scheme of including the Khulna waterways, where the prevention of riverine crime is necessary, are now under consideration. In areas where practically the only means of communications are by water, crime cannot be controlled except by a mobile river police, and it is noteworthy that in the case of a patrol post whose removal was contemplated, the inhabitants protested against being deprived of its protection. The river police launches were of great service during the strike of steamer employees in Eastern Bengal in carrying Government officers and the mails ; while the officers and men effected the rescue of 81 persons from drowning and saved 32 boats. Another feature of the year's work was the equipment of the river police dockyard at Narayanganj with extra machinery, thus enabling repairs to be carried out at less expense than before, while another measure of economy was the return of two hired launches to their owners.

7. A feature of the year's administration was the effort made, especially towards the end of the year, in almost all districts by the supporters of the non-co-operation movement to disorganize the chaukidari system. The police were as a result deprived of considerable assistance in checking crime, but only in a few districts was any success achieved in inducing panchayats and chaukidars to resign and villagers to withhold payment of taxes. District officers and their staff as well as police officers, by personal efforts and otherwise, kept the threatened dislocation from attaining widespread dimensions. Measures taken locally, including the quartering of additional police at the expense of the inhabitants in some of the worst localities, have since brought back conditions to almost normal. Complaints were again made of the inadequacy of the chaukidar's pay. The Chaukidari Act, under the provisions of which the maximum pay was fixed at Rs. 6, has since been amended enabling the village panchayat to fix the rate Fewer chaukidars were punished and rewarded during the year: the closing balance of the reward fund has been reduced somewhat, but the balances in several districts are still high, and there is scope for the more adequate recognition of good work.

8. The total volume of reported crime was less than in the previous year, but against the decline in the number of burglaries, thefts and less serious offences have to be set more riots, dacoities and robberies, the figures of which exceeded the average of the last five years. It is indeed not certain that there was a real decrease in breaches of the law, for under the influence of the non-co-operation movement in several districts offences were not always brought to the notice of the authorities, while aggrieved persons were often induced or compelled to have resort to "arbitration courts". Such offences, however, relate to minor infractions of the law; the real effect of this movement is reflected in the prevalence of the more violent forms of crime. As to riots, while the number was swelled by the activities of the Khilafat volunteers, strikers and others influenced by the prevailing atmosphere of disobedience to law, the majority were as usual the outcome of agrarian quarrels. The practice of serving warning notices on the owners and occupiers of land in dispute was often adopted with successful results, but the Inspector-General notes that its utility was overlooked in a number of districts. The attention of Superintendents of Police should be specially drawn to the value of these warnings in often preventing disturbances.

The number of true cases of dacoity was 716 against 576, the average of the last five years, the corresponding figures for robberies being 389 and 345. Over 64 per cent. of the dacoities took place in the Burdwan and Rajshahi Divisions, and it is significant that the highest figures are recorded in the districts of Midnapore and Rangpur where the non-co-operation movement attained considerable prominence. Various causes contributed to the increase, e.g., economic distress, which stirred local gangs into greater activity; the influx of foreigners, such as colliery workers from upcountry to Asansol, and Nepalese into Darjeeling. One particular factor which led to an extensive outbreak of crime in the Rajshahi Division was the escape of a large number of convicts from Rajshahi jail in March; some of the worst of these eluded capture, organized gangs and committed dacoities and other crimes throughout the neighbouring districts. These gangs have since been rounded up, and several escaped convicts have been imprisoned. In dealing with the outbreaks of crime, the police laboured under a serious handicap. The dislocation of the rural police, caused by the attacks of the non-co-operation movement on the chaukidari administration in several districts, deprived the police of much local information which would have helped in the prevention and detection of crime. The regular police, whose attention was distracted by the activities of volunteers and others pursuing a campaign of intimidation and boycott and preaching sedition, were unable to devote all their energies to measures of surveillance and investigation. And even where action was sought to be taken against criminals, the villagers, coerced or corrupted by the non-co-operation propaganda, were often unwilling to give information or evidence that would bring the offenders to justice. Consequently the number of cases of dacoity in which a conviction was obtained fell from 91 last year to 76, while preventive measures under section 110 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were taken against only 3,529 persons, 779 fewer than in 1920. The difficulties of the police continued into the current year, but the action taken to vindicate authority together with specific police measures by way of special patrols and the establishment of detective staffs, in order to deal with criminal gangs, have since resulted in a considerable improvement. The C. I. D. gave valuable assistance in the suppression of professional and organized crime, specially in dealing with dacoities in the Rajshahi Division. Volunteer defence parties are still few in number, and in most districts are reported to be apathetic, but in Hooghly and Murshidabad they gave great assistance to the police, arresting offenders who were subsequently convicted. The Governor in Council has much pleasure in commending the public service rendered by the supporters of this healthy movement. Only two crimes, one dacoity and one robbery, are believed to have been committed during the year by members of the old revolutionary party, but no political significance is attached to them, the motive apparently being personal gain. The staff of the central and district intelligence branches were further reduced; they rendered good service in combating the lawless and seditious activities that developed in the course of the year.

9. The expenditure of the department in round figures amounted to rupees one crore and forty-seven lakhs, the increase over last year being about fifteen lakhs; most of this increase is on account of the enhanced pay of the staff. Progress in building construction was again slow on account of paucity of funds, the amount spent being Rs. 17 lakhs as in the previous year. As noted by the Inspector-General, the financial stringency limits considerably the improvement and expansion of the department, and many important reforms have to be kept in abeyance. A pressing need is the replacement of dilapidated and unhealthy buildings by new ones, and the provision of quarters where none exists. A portion of the loan which Government proposes to raise will be allotted to this department, and it is hoped that the most urgent requirements will be met in this way in the next few years.

10. The disruptive tendencies at work during the year imposed an unprecedented test on the whole police staff. The non-co-operation and Khilafat movements developed in the closing months of the year into a campaign of open lawlessness, and industrial unrest fanned by political agitators added to the anxieties of those charged with the maintenance of law and order. But the exacting duties that fell to the lot of the police were cheerfully undertaken, and in spite of provocation, efforts to boycott and attempts to tamper with their allegiance all ranks behaved with courage and loyalty and rendered sterling service. The Governor in Council desires to congratulate Mr. Hyde and the entire force on the attainment of this happy result. He has also read with pleasure the list of officers specially commended for good work.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of the resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police, the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, and all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

Ordered also that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. CASSELLS,
Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Proclamation for Sale.

TO be peremptorily sold pursuant to the order made by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal in its Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction bearing date the 20th day of February 1922 and made in suit No. 1543 of 1918 (wherein Meghraj Kanayalal are the plaintiffs and Motilal Nityananda Bishoyi are the defendants) by the Sheriff of Calcutta in his sale room on the ground-floor of the Court House by public auction on Friday, the 17th day of November 1922, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, the ⅓rd share of Shreemutty Raj Rajeswari Dasi and Ekkori Lal Bishoyi, the partners of the defendant firm in the undernoted properties, viz.—

All that four-storied brick-built messuage or dwelling-house, together with the piece or parcel of revenue-paying land thereunto belonging and containing by estimation 11 chittacks and 33 square feet and being premises Nos. 211, 211-1, 211-2, and 211-3, Harrison Road, comprised in holding No. 44, block No. XII in the North Division of the town of Calcutta, and butted and bounded on the north partly by a lane and partly by the house of Damodar Das Barman, on the east by the premises No. 209, Harrison Road, on the south by Harrison Road and on the west by the premises No. 213, Harrison Road.

It appears from searches made at the Calcutta Registration Office from the year 1892, i.e., from the year when the Harrison Road was opened to 1922 that there are no encumbrances affecting the undivided ⅓th share of the said Shreemutty Raj Rajeswari Dasi amongst others in the said premises Nos. 211, 211-1, 211-2, 211-3, Harrison Road, save and except the following, viz., a Bengalee Deed of Mortgage, dated the 3rd day of May 1899, executed by Nityananda Bishoyi in favour of Debendra Nath Sen of No. 29, Kalutola Street in the town of Calcutta for Rs. 2,000 carrying interest thereon at 12 per cent. per annum and registered in book I, volume 56 at page 56, being No. 664 for 1899.

It also appears from searches made at the said Registration Office from the year 1892 to 1922 that the undivided ⅓th share of the said Ekkori Lal Bishoyi in the said premises Nos. 211, 211-1, 211-2 and 211-3, Harrison Road, is subject to the following encumbrances, viz. :—

(a) Security Bond, dated 3rd Assar 1321 B. S., executed by Ekkori Lal Bishoyi in respect of his ⅓th share in premises No. 211, Harrison Road, in favour of the Sub-Judge of Birbhum, for the sum of Rs. 1,375 and registered at Calcutta in book I, volume 33 at pages 297 to 299, being No. 2048 for the year 1914.

(b) Indenture of Mortgage, dated 28th November 1918, executed by Ekkori Lal Bishoyi in respect of his ⅓th share in, amongst other properties, Nos. 211, 211-1, 211-2 and 211-3, Harrison Road, in favour of Bhupendra Kumar Dutt of No. 92, Beadon Street, for the sum of Rs. 10,000 carrying interest at 9 per cent. per annum and registered at Calcutta Registry Office in book I, volume 125 at pages 275 to 285, being No. 5033 for the year 1918.

(c) Indenture of Assignment, dated the 25th May 1921, and made between Jatindra Nath Dutt (the Commissioner of Partition appointed in suit No. 731 of 1902 wherein Ekkori Lal Bishoyi was the plaintiff and Bungshidhur Bisboyi and others were the defendants) of the 1st part, Durga Churn Mitter (Engineer Surveyor appointed in the above suit) of the 2nd part, Sushil Chandra Gupta (clerk appointed in the said suit No. 731 of 1902) of the 3rd part and Hrishikesh Sarkar of the 4th part.

Recites that by an order dated 14th August 1919 the fees of Commissioner, Surveyor and Clerk form a charge on the said premises Nos. 211, 211-1, 211-2 and 211-3, Harrison Road, No. 2, Dwarka Nath Tagore Lane and Nos. 7-9, Fakir Chand Mitter Street and other mofussil properties.

Also recites that the sum of Rs. 3,384-12 is payable to the parties of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd parts on account of Commissioner's, Surveyor's and Clerk's fees.

By this deed the parties of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd parts appoint the party of their 4th part as their irrevocable attorney for and on their behalf to take all such steps as may be necessary for realising the sum of Rs. 3,384-12 and subsequent costs of realisation. The document is registered at the Calcutta Registry Office in book I, volume 110, pages 126 to 140, being No. 4057 for 1921.

The decree was for Rs. 5,013-5-3 and Rs. 242, being the taxed costs awarded by the decree making a total of Rs. 5,255-5-3. The above mentioned ⅓rd share in the aforesaid properties is to be sold for the realisation of the said sum of Rs. 5,255-5-3 besides the costs of and incidental to the execution proceedings and the sale herein.

(c) unless a certificate or provisional order authorising the use of the boiler is for the time being in force under this Act;

(d) at a pressure higher than the maximum pressure recorded in such certificate or provisional order:

Provided that any boiler registered, or any boiler certified or licensed, under any Act hereby repealed shall be deemed to have been registered or certified, as the case may be, under this Act:

Provided, further, that, until the expiration of twelve months from the commencement of this Act, nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the use of any boiler in any local area in which the registration of, or a certificate or licence for the use of, a boiler was not previously required by law.

Registration.

7. (1) The owner of any boiler which is not registered under the provisions of this Act may apply to the Inspector to have the boiler registered. Every such application shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(2) On receipt of an application under sub-section (1), the Inspector shall fix a date, within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten days' notice of the date so fixed.

(3) On the said date the Inspector shall proceed to measure and examine the boiler and to determine in the prescribed manner the maximum pressure, if any, at which such boiler may be used, and shall report the result of the examination to the Chief Inspector in the prescribed form.

(4) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of the report, may—

(a) register the boiler and assign a register number thereto either forthwith or after satisfying himself that any structural alteration, addition or renewal which he may deem necessary has been made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto ; or

(b) refuse to register the boiler.

(5) The Chief Inspector shall, on registering the boiler, order the issue to the owner of a certificate in the prescribed form authorising the use of the boiler for a period not exceeding twelve months at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act.

(6) The Inspector shall forthwith convey to the owner of the boiler the orders of the Chief Inspector and shall in accordance therewith issue to the owner any certificate of which the issue has been ordered, and, where the boiler has been registered, the owner shall within the prescribed period cause the register number to be permanently marked thereon in the prescribed manner.

Renewal of certificate

8. (1) A certificate authorising the use of a boiler shall cease to be in force—

(a) on the expiry of the period for which it was granted ; or

(b) when any accident occurs to the boiler or a steam-pipe attached thereto ; or

(c) when the boiler, not being a portable or vehicular boiler, is moved ; or

(d) when any structural alteration, addition or renewal is made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto ; or

(e) on the communication to the owner of the boiler of an order of the Chief Inspector or Inspector prohibiting its use on the ground that it is in a dangerous condition.

(2) When a certificate ceases to be in force the owner of the boiler may within forty-eight hours apply to the Inspector for a renewal thereof for such period not exceeding twelve months as he may specify in the application.

(3) An application under sub-section (2) shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee and, on receipt thereof, the Inspector shall fix a date, within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten days' notice of the date so fixed :

Provided that, where the certificate had ceased to be in force owing to the making of any structural alteration, addition or renewal, the Chief Inspector may dispense with the payment of any fee.

(4) On the said date the Inspector shall examine the boiler in the prescribed manner, and, if he is satisfied that the boiler and the steam-pipe or steam-pipes attached thereto are in good condition, shall issue a renewed certificate authorising the use of the boiler for such period not exceeding twelve months and at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act :—

Provided that if the Inspector—

(a) proposes to issue any certificate—

(i) having validity for a less period than the period entered in the application, or

(ii) increasing or reducing the maximum pressure at which the boiler may be be used, or

(b) proposes to order any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto, or the Inspector shall, within forty-eight hours of making the examination, inform the owner of the boiler in writing of his opinion and the reasons therefor, and shall forthwith report the case for orders to the Chief Inspector.

(c) is of opinion that the boiler is not fit for use,

(5) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of a report under sub-section (4), may, subject to the provisions of this Act and of the regulations made hereunder, order the renewal of the certificate in such terms and on such conditions, if any, as he thinks fit, or may refuse to renew it.

(6) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent an owner of a boiler from applying for a renewed certificate therefor at any time during the currency of a certificate.

Provisional orders.

9. Where the Inspector reports the case of any boiler to the Chief Inspector under sub-section (4) of section 8, he may, if the boiler is not a boiler in respect of which a renewed certificate is required by reasons of an accident thereto or to a steam pipe attached thereto or the use of which has been prohibited under clause (e) of sub-section (1) of section 8, grant to the owner thereof a provisional order in writing permitting the boiler to be used at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit pending the receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector. Such provisional order shall cease to be in force :—

(a) on the expiry of six months from the date on which it is granted, or

(b) on receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector, or

(c) in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), and (e) of sub-section (1) of section 8, and on so ceasing to be in force shall be surrendered to the Inspector.

Use of boiler pending grant of certificate

10. (1) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, when the period of a certificate relating to a boiler has expired, the owner shall, provided that he has applied, in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 8, for a renewal of the certificate, be entitled to use the boiler at the maximum pressure entered in the former certificate pending the issue of orders on the application.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise the use of a boiler in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), and (e) of sub-section (1) of section 8 occurring after the expiry of the period of the certificate.

Revocation of certificate or provisional order

11. The Chief Inspector may at any time withdraw or revoke any certificate or provisional order on the report of an Inspector or otherwise—

(b) if the boiler in respect of which it has been granted has sustained injury or has ceased to be in good condition ; or

(c) if the boiler is in charge of a person not in his opinion competent to have charge thereof.

(b) to have the boiler properly prepared and ready for examination in the prescribed manner ; and

(c) in the case of an application for the registration of a boiler, to provide such drawings, specifications, certificates and other particulars as may be prescribed.

(2) If the owner fails without reasonable cause to comply with the provisions of sub-section (1), the Inspector shall refuse to make the examination and shall report the case to the Chief Inspector who shall, unless sufficient cause to the contrary is shown, require the owner to file a fresh application and fee under section 7 or section 8, as the case may be and may forbid him to use the boiler notwithstanding anything contained in section 10.

14. The owner of any boiler who holds a certificate or provisional order relating thereto shall at all reasonable times during the period for which the certificate or order is in force be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by a District Magistrate, Commissioner of Police or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in the area in which the boiler is for the time being, or by the Chief Inspector or by an any Inspector appointed under the Indian Factories Act 1911, or by any person specially authorised in writing by a District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under the Devolution Rules the regulation of boilers is a provincial subject, subject to legislation by the Indian Legislature. There are at present seven provincial Boiler Acts; some of them were framed many years ago and are out of date, and all of them are inconsistent with each other. The result is that different rules are enforced in different provinces, and the anomalous position has been reached that a boiler which is allowed to work up to a certain pressure in one province can only be worked to a much lower pressure when transferred to another province. Further, in the interest of safety a boiler requires regular inspection in whatever province it may be situated, and it is wrong that in certain provinces no boiler law should be in force at all. The object therefore of the present legislation is :

(a) to secure uniformity throughout India in all technical matters connected with boiler regulations, e.g., standards of construction, maximum pressure, and

(b) to insist on the registration and regular inspection of all boilers throughout India.

This object can only be attained by an all-India Act, with uniform regulations throughout the country; under the Devolution Rules, as explained above, it is the function of the Central Government to promulgate such an Act.

2. The subject being a highly technical one a Committee of three persons including two boiler experts was appointed to examine the existing provincial laws and to put forward proposals for an all-India Act, based on the provisions of these laws brought up to date and co-ordinated. The report of this Committee has been published and the views of local Governments obtained upon it. The Bill which is now presented to the Assembly is the result of their recommendations as modified after consideration of the views of local Governments.

3. The only important respect in which the Bill diverges from certain of the existing Acts is with regard to certificated boiler attendants. It is only in a few provinces that boiler attendants are required to possess certificates of competency. The Industrial Commission recommended that this requirement was unnecessary, a recommendation which the Boiler Laws Committee endorsed, and in which local Governments, including those now insisting on certificates, have unanimously agreed.

In the appended notes an explanation is given of the more important clauses of the Bill.

Clause 1 (3).—It is undesirable that the law should come into force until the regulations to be framed under the enabling section are ready. These regulations have been referred in draft form to various experts for scrutiny and it is unlikely that they will be ready to be published for some time. Further, it is desirable to give boiler owners some period of grace within which to make themselves acquainted with the new Act, before it actually comes into force. On these accounts power is taken to bring the Act into effect by notification.

Clause 2 (f).—A steam pipe can be as dangerous as a boiler. It is, therefore, necessary to provide for the regular inspection of steam pipes.

Clause 3.—The boilers used on ordinary steam ships are already subject to a law which ensures proper inspection, and boilers used on His Majesty's ships are always in the charge of competent engineers. It is, therefore, unnecessary to bring these classes of boilers within the scope of the Act. Similarly as regards sub-clause (2) the boilers used on the large, well organized railways are in charge of competent engineers and it would be a work of supererogation for the provincial boiler inspection staff to inspect such boilers : hence power is taken to exempt such railways. On the other hand in the case of tramways and the smaller railway lines it may be desirable to provide for inspection by the provincial staff. Exemptions made under this clause will be specific in each case.

Clause 7.—The intention is that all boilers which come within the definition shall be registered and that the scale of registration fees shall be uniform for the whole of India, though the fee payable will of course vary according to the size of the boiler. It is desirable that, on receipt of an application for registration, the Inspector should be bound by law to examine the boiler within a reasonable period : otherwise, the owner might be put to considerable loss and inconvenience in having to wait for a long time before bringing the boiler into use. It is essential too that the Inspector should give the owner ten days' notice of the date of his inspection as, in the case of multitubular boilers, it takes ten days to make the boiler ready for inspection.

Clause 9.—The object of the provisional order is to allow the owner to work the boiler in certain cases before the final orders of the Chief Inspector have been received. This provision should obviate any inconvenience which might be experienced by the owner if the Chief Inspector was on tour and the reference to him or the receipt of his orders was delayed.

Clause 11 (c).—As explained above, certificates of competency will no longer be required in boiler attendants, but this should not absolve the owner of the boiler from the responsibility of seeing that the man in charge of it is capable of looking after it ; power is therefore reserved in this sub-clause to the Chief Inspector to prohibit the working of a boiler if it is in the charge of an incompetent person.

Clause 12.—The making of a structural alteration may seriously impair the strength of a boiler ; it is necessary therefore that, when an owner intends to make such an alteration, the Chief Inspector should have knowledge of it.

Clauses 27 and 28.—It is proposed to distinguish between the rules made by the Governor-General and by local Governments under these clauses by describing those made by the Governor-General as regulations. These regulations will be uniform for the whole of India. Local Governments are empowered to make rules for the general administration of the Act.

a suit for damages in respect of the injury instituted by the workman or by any person entitled in case of his death shall not fail by reason only of the fact that the workman was at the time of the injury a workman of, or in the service of, or engaged in the work of, the employer.

Risk not to be deemed to have been assumed without full knowledge

4. In any such suit for damages, the workman shall not be deemed to have undertaken any risk attaching to the employment unless the employer proves that the risk was fully understood by the workman and that the workman voluntarily undertook the same.

Limitation

5. The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply in the case of any suit for damages in respect of an injury which is instituted after the expiration of six months from the date of the injury.

CHAPTER III.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

Employer's liability for compensation

6. (1) If personal injury is caused to a workman by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment, his employer shall be liable to pay compensation in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter:

Provided that—

(a) the employer shall not be so liable in respect of any injury which does not result in the total or partial disablement of the workman for a period exceeding ten days;

(b) if the accident is directly attributable to—

(i) the workman having been at the time thereof under the influence of drink or drugs, or

(ii) the disobedience of the workman to an order expressly given or made known to him and which he may reasonably be expected to have remembered, or

(iii) the removal by the workman of any safety, guard or other device which he knew to have been provided for safety purposes, the employer shall not be liable to pay compensation unless the injury results in death to the workman or in his permanent total disablement, in either of which cases the employer shall be liable to pay only half the compensation to which the workman would otherwise have been entitled ; and

(c) an employer shall not be liable to pay compensation—

(i) in respect of any workman employed in the inspection or upkeep of a sewer except in the case of the death of such person owing to poisoning by sewer gas, or

(ii) in respect of any workman employed in the construction, repair or demolition of a building or bridge, except in the case of the death or permanent total disablement of the workman.

(2) If a workman employed in any employment involving the handling of wool, hair, bristles, hides or skins contracts the disease of anthrax, or if a workman whilst in the service of an employer in whose service he has been employed for a continuous period of not less than six months in any employment specified in Schedule III, contracts any disease specified therein as an occupational disease peculiar to that employment, the contracting of the disease shall be deemed to be an injury by accident within the meaning of this section and, unless the employer proves the contrary, the accident shall be deemed to have arisen out of and in the course of the employment.

Explanation.—For the purpose of this sub-section a period of service shall be deemed to be continuous which has not included a period of service under any other employer.

(3) The Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, add any description of employment to the employments specified in Schedule III, and shall specify in the case of the employments so added the diseases which shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to be occupational diseases peculiar to those employments respectively, and the provisions of sub-section (2) shall thereupon apply as if such diseases had been declared by this Act to be occupational diseases peculiar to those employments.

(4) Save as provided by sub-sections (2) and (3), no compensation shall be payable to a workman in respect of any disease unless the disease is solely and directly attributable to a specific injury by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment.

(5) Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to confer any right of compensation on a workman in respect of any injury if he has instituted in a Civil Court a suit for damages in respect of the injury against the employer or any other person ; and no suit for damages shall be maintainable by a workman in any Court of law in respect of any injury—

(a) if he has instituted a claim to compensation in respect of the injury before a Commissioner ; or

(b) if an agreement has been come to between the workman and his employer providing for the payment of compensation in respect of the injury in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Amount of compensation.

7. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the amount of compensation shall be as follows, namely :—

A. Where death results from the injury—

(i) in the case of an adult, a sum equal to thirty months' wages or two thousand five hundred rupees, whichever is less, and

(ii) in the case of a minor, fifty rupees ;

B. Where permanent total disablement results from the injury,—

(i) in the case of an adult, a sum equal to forty-two months' wages or three thousand five hundred rupees, whichever is less, and

(ii) in the case of a minor, a sum equal to eighty-four months' wages or three thousand five hundred rupees, whichever is less ;

C. Where permanent partial disablement results from the injury,—

(i) in the case of an injury specified in Schedule I, such percentage of the compensation which would have been payable in the case of permanent total disablement as is specified therein as being the percentage of the loss of earning capacity caused by that injury, and

(ii) in the case of an injury not specified in Schedule I, such percentage of the compensation payable in the case of permanent total disablement as is proportionate to the loss of earning capacity permanently caused by the injury.

Explanation.—Where more injuries than one are caused by the same accident, the amount of compensation payable under this head shall be aggregated but not so in any case as to exceed the amount which would have been payable if permanent total disablement had resulted from the injuries.

D. Where temporary disablement, whether total or partial, results from the injury, a half-monthly payment payable on the expiry of fifteen days from the tenth day of the disablement, and thereafter half-monthly during the disablement or during a period of seven years, whichever period is shorter —

(i) in the case of an adult, of a sum equal to one-fourth of his monthly wages or fifteen rupees, whichever is less; and

(ii) in the case of a minor, of a sum equal to one-third of his monthly wages or fifteen rupees, whichever is less :

Provided that there shall be deducted from any lump sum or half-monthly payments to which the workman is entitled the amount of any payment or allowance which the workman has received from the employer by way of compensation during the period of disablement prior to the receipt of such lump sum or of the first half-monthly payment, as the case may be, and no half-monthly payment shall in any case exceed the difference between half the amount of the monthly wages of the workman before the accident and half the amount of such wages which he is earning after the accident.

(2) On the ceasing of the disablement before the date on which any half-monthly payment falls due, there shall be payable in respect of that half-month a sum proportionate to the duration of the disablement in that half-month.

Method of calculating wages.

8. For the purposes of section 7 the monthly wages of a workman shall be calculated as follows, namely :—

(a) where the workman has, during a continuous period of not less than twelve months immediately preceding the accident, been in the service of the employer who is liable to pay compensation, the monthly wage of the workman shall be one twelfth of the total wages earned by him from the employer in respect of the last twelve months of that period ;

(b) in other cases, the monthly wage shall be thirty times the total wages earned in respect of the last continuous period of service immediately preceding the accident from the employer who is liable to pay compensation, divided by the number of days comprising such period :

Provided that the sum arrived at by a calculation under clause (a) or clause (b) shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, to the amount specified in the second column of Schedule IV against the head specified in the first column thereof within the limits of which such sum is included.

Explanation.—A period of service shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be continuous which has not been interrupted by a period of absence from work exceeding ten days.

Review.

9. (1) Any half-monthly payment payable under section 7 may be reviewed by the Commissioner on the application either of the employer or of the workman accompanied by the certificate of a qualified medical practitioner that there has been a change in the condition of the workman or, subject to rules made under this Act, on application made without such certificate ; and every such half-monthly payment payable to a minor shall be so reviewed on the attainment by the minor of the age of fifteen years.

(2) Any half-monthly payment may, on review under this section, subject to the provisions of this Act, be increased, decreased or ended :

Provided that, in the case of a workman who attains the age of fifteen years while in receipt of such payments, the half-monthly payment may be increased to any sum not exceeding one-fourth of the monthly wages which the workman would probably have been earning at the date of the review if he had remained uninjured, or not exceeding fifteen rupees, whichever is less.

Commutation of half monthly payments.

10. Any right to receive half-monthly payments may, by agreement between the parties or, if the parties cannot agree and the payments have been continued for not less than six months, on the application of either party to the Commissioner, be redeemed by the payment of a lump sum of such amount as may be agreed to by the parties or determined by the Commissioner, as the case may be.

Distribution of compensation.

11. (1) Compensation payable in respect of a workman whose injury has resulted in death shall be deposited with the Commissioner, and any sum so deposited shall be apportioned among the dependants of the deceased workman or any of them in such proportion as the Commissioner thinks fit, or may, in the discretion of the Commissioner, be allotted to any one such dependant, and the sum so allotted to any dependant shall either be paid to him or be invested, applied or otherwise dealt with for his benefit in such manner as the Commissioner thinks fit.

(2) Any other compensation payable under this Act may be deposited with the Commissioner and, when so deposited, shall be paid over by the Commissioner to the person entitled thereto.

(3) The receipt of the Commissioner shall be a sufficient discharge in respect of any amount deposited with him under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2).

(4) On the deposit of any money under sub-section (1), the Commissioner may deduct therefrom the actual cost of the workman's funeral expenses, to an amount not exceeding fifty rupees, and pay the same to the person by whom such expenses were incurred, and shall, if he thinks necessary, cause notice to be published or to be served on each dependant in such manner as he thinks fit, calling upon the dependants to appear before him on such date as he may fix for determining the distribution of the compensation. If the Commissioner is satisfied, after any inquiry which he may deem necessary, that no dependant exists, he shall repay the balance of the money to the employer by whom it was paid.

(5) Where a half-monthly payment is payable under this Act to a person under any legal disability, the Commissioner may, of his own motion or on application made to him in this behalf, order that the half-monthly payment be paid during the disability to any dependant of the workmen or to any other person whom he thinks best fitted to provide for the welfare of the workman.

(6) Where, on application made to him in this behalf or otherwise the Commissioner is satisfied that on account of neglect of children on the part of a widow or on account of the variation of the circumstances of any dependant of a deceased workman or for any other sufficient cause, an order of the Commissioner as to the distribution of any sum paid as compensation or as to the manner in which any sum payable to any such dependant is to be invested, applied or otherwise dealt with, ought to be varied, the Commissioner may make such orders for the variation of the former order as he thinks just in the circumstances of the case :

Provided that no such order prejudicial to any person shall be made unless such person has been given an opportunity of showing cause why the order should not be made, or shall be made in any case in which it would involve the repayment by a dependant of any sum already paid to him.

(7) Where any lump sum has been paid to an injured workman or, under the orders of the Commissioner, to any person on his behalf, and such sum exceeds in amount the sum which would have been payable if the injury had resulted in the death of the workman, the employer shall not be entitled to recover the balance in the event of the death of the workman ; but, if the employer has deposited such lump sum with the Commissioner, the Commissioner may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, make to the workman during a period not exceeding six months half-monthly payments not exceeding fifteen rupees each, and withhold payment of the balance during the continuance of such payment. If the workman dies before the balance is paid to him, the Commissioner shall repay to the employer the difference between the amount paid by the employer and the amount payable under this Act in the case of the death of the workman, or the balance remaining in the hands of the Commissioner, whichever is less.

Compensation not to be assigned, attached or charged

12. Save as provided by this Act, no lump sum or half monthly payment payable under this Act shall in any way be capable of being assigned or charged or be liable to attachment or pass to any person other than the workman by operation of law, nor shall any claim be set off against the same.

Notice

13. (1) No proceeding for the recovery of compensation under the Act shall be maintainable before a Commissioner unless notice of the accident has been given within seventy-two hours of the accident and in the manner hereinafter provided, and unless the claim for compensation with respect to such accident has been made within six months of the occurrence of the accident or, in case of death, within six months from the date of death :

Provided that where the accident is the contracting of a disease in respect of which the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 6 are applicable, the accident shall be deemed to have occurred at midday on the first of the days during which the workman was continuously absent from work in consequence of the disablement caused by the disease :

Provided, further, that the Commissioner may admit and decide any claim to compensation in any case where the notice has been given or the claim made after the expiry of the period hereby allowed if he is satisfied that the failure to give the notice or make the claim, as the case may be, within that period was due to sufficient cause.

(2) Every such notice shall give the name and address of the person injured and shall state in ordinary language the cause of the injury and the date on which the accident happened, and shall be served on the employer or upon any one of several employers, or upon any person directly responsible to the employer for the management of any branch of the trade or business in which the injured workman was employed.

(3) The notice may be served by delivering the same at, or sending it by registered post addressed to, the residence or any office or place of business of the person on whom it is to be served.

Medical examination

14. (1) Where a workman has given notice of an accident, he shall, if the employer within seven days offers to have him examined free of charge by a qualified medical practitioner, submit himself for such examination, and any workman who is in receipt of a half-monthly payment under this Act shall, if so required, submit himself for such examination from time to time :

Provided that a workman shall not be required to submit himself for examination by a medical practitioner otherwise than in accordance with rules made under this Act, or at more frequent intervals than may be prescribed.

(2) If a workman, on being required to do so by the employer under sub-section (1) or by the Commissioner at any time, refuses to submit himself for examination by a qualified medical practitioner or in any way obstructs the same, his right to compensation and to take or prosecute any proceeding under this Act in relation to compensation or, in the case of a workman in receipt of half-monthly payments, his right to receive half-monthly payments shall be suspended until such examination has taken place.

(3) Where under this section a right to compensation is suspended, no compensation shall be payable in respect of the period of suspension.

(4) Where an injured workman has refused to be attended by a qualified medical practitioner whose services have been offered to him by the employer free of charge, or having accepted such offer has failed to avail himself thereof to the extent required by the employer or has deliberately disregarded the instructions of such medical practitioner, then, if it is thereafter proved that the workman has not been regularly attended by a qualified medical practitioner and that such refusal, failure or disregard was unreasonable in the circumstances of the case and that the injury has been aggravated thereby, the injury and resulting disablement shall be deemed to be of the same nature and duration as they might reasonably have been expected to be if the workman had been regularly attended by a qualified medical practitioner, and compensation, if any, shall be payable accordingly.

Contracting.

15. (1) Where any person (hereinafter in this section referred to as the principal) in the course of or for the purposes of his trade or business contracts with any other person (hereinafter in this section referred to as the contractor) for the execution by or under the contractor of the whole or any part of any work which has been or is ordinarily undertaken by the principal in the course of or for the purposes of his trade or business, the principal shall be liable to pay to any workman employed in the execution of the work any compensation which he would have been liable to pay under this Act if that workman had been immediately employed by him ; and where compensation is claimed from the principal, this Act shall apply as if references to the principal were substituted for references to the employer except that the amount of compensation shall be calculated with reference to the wages of the workman under the employer by whom he is immediately employed.

(2) Where the principal is liable to pay compensation under this section, he shall, if the contract with the contractor was made before the commencement of this Act and contains no provision to the contrary, be entitled to be indemnified by the contractor, and all questions as to the right to and the amount of any such indemnity shall, in default of agreement, be settled by the Commissioner.

(3) This section shall not apply—

(a) in any case where the accident occurred elsewhere than in or about the premises on which the principal has undertaken or usually undertakes, as the case may be, to execute the work or which are otherwise under his control or management; or

(b) where the principal is a local authority or a department of the Government.

Remedies of employer against stranger.

16. Where a workman has recovered compensation under this Act in respect of any injury caused under circumstances creating a legal liability of some person other than the person by whom the compensation was paid to pay damages in respect thereof, the person by whom the compensation was paid and any person who has been called on to pay an indemnity under section 15 shall be entitled to be indemnified by the person so liable to pay damages as aforesaid.

Insolvency of employer

17. (1) Where any employer has entered into a contract with any insurers in respect of any liability under this Act to any workman, then in the event of the employer becoming insolvent or making a composition or scheme of arrangement with his creditors or, if the employer is a company, in the event of the company having commenced to be wound up, the rights of the employer against the insurers as respects that liability shall, notwithstanding anything in any law for the time being in force relating to insolvency or the winding up of companies, be transferred to and vest in the workman, and upon any such transfer the insurers shall have the same rights and remedies and be subject to the same liabilities as if they were the employer, so however that the insurers shall not be under any greater liability to the workman than they would have been under to the employer.

(2) If the liability of the insurers to the workman is less than the liability of the employer to the workman, the workman may prove for the balance in the insolvency proceedings or liquidation.

(3) Where in any case such as is referred to in sub-section (1) the contract of the employer with the insurers is void or voidable by reason of non-compliance on the part of the employer with any terms or conditions of the contract (other than a stipulation for the payment of premia), the provisions of that sub-section shall apply as if the contract were not void or voidable, and the insurers shall be entitled to prove in the insolvency proceedings or liquidation for the amount paid to the workman:

Provided that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply in any case in which the workman fails to give notice to the insurers of the occurrence of the accident and of any resulting disablement as soon as possible after he becomes aware of the institution of the insolvency or liquidation proceedings.

(4) There shall be deemed to be included among the debts which under section 49 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act 1909, or under section 61 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, or under section 230 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, are in the distribution of the property of an insolvent or in the distribution of the assets of a company being wound up to be paid in priority to all other debts, the amount due in respect of any compensation the liability wherefor accrued before the date of the order of adjudication of the insolvent or the date of the commencement of the winding up, as the case may be, and those Acts shall have effect accordingly. III of 1909. V of 1920. VII of 1913.

(5) Where the compensation is a half-monthly payment, the amount due in respect thereof shall, for the purposes of this section, be taken to be the amount of the lump sum for which the half-monthly payment could, if redeemable, be redeemed if application were made for that purpose under section 10, and a certificate of the Commissioner as to the amount of such sum shall be conclusive proof thereof.

(6) The provisions of sub-section (4) shall apply in the case of any amount for which an insurer is entitled to prove under sub-section (3), but otherwise those provisions shall not apply where the insolvent or the company being wound up has entered into such a contract with insurers as is referred to in sub-section (1).

(7) This section shall not apply where a company is wound up voluntarily merely for the purposes of reconstruction or of amalgamation with another company.

Special provisions relating to seamen.

18. This Act shall apply in the case of workmen who are seamen subject to the following modifications, namely :—

(1) The notice of the accident and the claim for compensation may, except where the person injured is the master of the ship, be served on the master of the ship as if he were the employer, but where the accident happened and the disablement commenced on board the ship, it shall not be necessary for any seaman not being the master of the ship to give any notice of the accident.

(2) If the person injured is the master of the ship, notice of the accident may be given at any time within fourteen days of the accident or, if the accident occurs whilst the ship is on a voyage, within fourteen days of its arrival at any port or landing-place in British India.

(3) In the case of the death of a seaman, the claim for compensation shall be made within six months after the news of the death has been received by the claimant or, where the ship has been or is deemed to have been lost with all hands, within eighteen months of the date on which the ship was, or is deemed to have been, so lost.

(4) Where an injured seaman is discharged or left behind in any part of His Majesty's dominions or in a foreign country, any depositions taken by any Judge or Magistrate in that part or by any Consular Officer in the foreign country and transmitted by the person by whom they are taken to the Governor-General in Council or any Local Government shall in any proceedings for enforcing the claim be admissible in evidence—

(a) if the deposition is authenticated by the signature of the Judge, Magistrate or Consular Officer before whom it is made ;

(b) if the defendant or the person accused, as the case may be, had an opportunity by himself or his agent to cross-examine the witness ; and

(c) it the deposition was made in the course of a criminal proceeding, on proof that the deposition was made in the presence of the person accused ;

and it shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition and a certificate by such person that the defendant or the person accused had an opportunity of cross-examining the witness and that the deposition if made in the criminal proceeding was made in the presence of the person accused shall, unless the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence that he had that opportunity and that it was so made.

(5) In the case of the death of a seaman leaving no dependants, the Commissioner shall, if the owner of the ship is, under any law in force for the time being in British India relating to merchant shipping, liable to pay the expenses of burial of the seaman, return to the employer the full amount of the compensation deposited under sub-section (1) of section 11 without making the deduction referred to in sub-section (4) of that section.

(6) No monthly payment shall be payable in respect of the period during which the owner of the ship is, under any law in force for the time being in British India relating to merchant shipping, liable to defray the expenses of maintenance of the injured seaman.

Returns as to compensation.

19. The Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that every person employing workmen, or that any specified class of such persons, shall send at such time and in such form and to such authority, as may be specified in the notification, a correct return specifying the number of injuries in respect of which compensation has been paid by the employer under this Act during the previous year and the amount of such compensation, together with such other particulars as to the compensation as the Governor-General in Council may direct.

Contracting out.

20. Any contract or agreement whether made before or after the commencement of this Act, whereby a workman relinquishes any right of compensation from the employer for personal injury arising out of or in the course of the employment, shall be null and void in so far as it purports to remove the liability of the employer to pay compensation under this Act.

Proof of age

21. Where any question arises as to the age of a person injured by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment in a factory, a certificate of a certifying surgeon granted in respect of such person under section 7 of the Indian Factories Act, 1911, before the occurrence of the injury shall be conclusive proof of the age of such person. XII of 1911.

CHAPTER IV.

COMMISSIONERS.

Reference to Commissioners

22. (1) If any question arises in any proceedings under this Act as to the liability of any person to pay compensation (including any question as to whether a person injured is or is not a workman) or as to the amount or duration of compensation under this Act (including any question as to the nature or extent of disablement), the question shall, in default of agreement, be settled by the Commissioner.

(2) No Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to settle, decide or deal with any question which is by or under this Act to be settled, decided or dealt with by a Commissioner.

Appointment of Commissioners

23. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint any person to be a Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation for such local area as may be specified in the notification.

(2) Any Commissioner may, for the purpose of deciding any matter referred to him for decision under this Act, choose one or more persons possessing special knowledge of any matter relevant to the matter under inquiry to assist him in holding the inquiry.

(3) Every Commissioner shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

Venue of proceedings and transfer

24. (1) Where any matter is under this Act to be done by or before a Commissioner, the same shall, subject to the provisions of this Act and to any rules made hereunder, be done by or before the Commissioner for the local area in which the accident took place which resulted in the injury:

Provided that, where the workman is a seaman, any such matter may be done by or before the Commissioner for the local area in which the owner or agent of the ship resides or carries on business.

(2) If a Commissioner is satisfied by any party to any proceedings under this Act pending before him that such matter can be more conveniently dealt with by any other Commissioner, whether in the same province or not, he may, subject to rules made under this Act, order such matter to be transferred to such other Commissioner either for report or for final disposal, and, if he does so, shall forthwith transmit by registered post to such other Commissioner all documents relevant for the decision of such matter and, where the matter is transferred for final disposal, shall also transmit in the prescribed manner any money remaining in his hands or invested by him for the benefit of any party to the proceedings.

(3) The Commissioner to whom any matter is so transferred shall, subject to rules made under this Act, inquire thereinto and, if the matter was transferred for report, return his report thereon or, if the matter was transferred for final disposal, continue the proceedings as if they had originally commenced before him.

(4) On receipt of a report from a Commissioner to whom any matter has been transferred for report under sub-section (2), the Commissioner by whom it was referred shall decide the matter referred in conformity with such report.

Form of application.

25. (1) No application for the settlement of any matter by a Commissioner shall be made unless and until some question has arisen between the parties in connection therewith which they have been unable to settle by agreement.

(2) Where any such question has arisen, the application may be made in such form and shall be accompanied by such fee, if any, as may be prescribed, and shall contain the following particulars, namely :—

(a) a concise statement of the circumstances under which the application is made and the relief or order which the applicant claims :

(b) in the case of a claim for compensation against an employer, the date of service of notice of the accident on the employer and, if such notice has not been served or has not been served in due time, the reason for such omission :

(c) the full names and addresses of the parties ; and

(d) a concise statement of the matters on which agreement has and on these on which agreement has not been come to.

(3) If the applicant is illiterate or for any other reason is unable to furnish the required information in writing, the application shall, if the applicant so desires, be prepared under the direction of the Commissioner.

Powers and procedure of Commissioners

26. The Commissioner shall have all the powers of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the purpose of taking evidence on oath (which such Commissioner is hereby empowered to impose) and of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and compelling the production of documents and material objects. V of 1908.

Appearance of parties.

27. Any appearance, application or act required to be made or done by any person before or to a Commissioner (other than an appearance of a party which is required for the purpose of his examination as a witness) may be made or done on behalf of such person by a legal practitioner or other person authorised in writing by such person.

Method of recording evidence.

28. The Commissioner shall make a brief memorandum of the substance of the evidence of every witness as the examination of the witness proceeds, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Commissioner with his own hand and shall form part of the record :

Provided that, if the Commissioner is prevented from making such memorandum, he shall record the reason of his inability to do so and shall cause such memorandum to be made in writing from his dictation and shall sign the same, and such memorandum shall form part of the record :

Provided, further, that the evidence of any medical witness shall be taken down as nearly as may be word for word.

Costs

29. All costs incidental to any proceedings before a Commissioner shall, subject to rules made under this Act, be in the discretion of the Commissioner.

Power to submit cases

30. A Commissioner may, if he thinks fit, submit any question of law for the decision of the High Court and, if he does so, shall decide the question in conformity with such decision.

Registration of agreements.

31. Where the amount of any lump sum payable as compensation has been settled by agreement, whether by way of redemption of a half-monthly payment or otherwise, or where any compensation has been so settled as being payable to a person under a legal disability or to a dependant, a memorandum thereof shall be sent to the Commissioner, who shall, on being satisfied as to its genuineness, record the memorandum in a register in the prescribed manner :

Provided that—

(a) no such memorandum shall be recorded before seven days after communication by the Commissioner of notice to the parties concerned :

(b) where a workman seeks to record a memorandum of agreement between his employer and himself for the payment of compensation and the employer proves that the workman has, in fact, returned to work and is earning the same wages as he did before the accident and objects to the recording of such memorandum, the memorandum shall only be recorded, if at all, on such terms as the Commissioner thinks just in the circumstances ;

(c) the Commissioner may at any time rectify the register ;

(d) where it appears to the Commissioner that an agreement as to the payment of a lump sum whether by way of redemption of a half-monthly payment or otherwise, or an agreement as to the amount of compensation payable to a person under any legal disability or to any dependant, ought not to be registered by reason of the inadequacy of the sum or amount, or by reason of the agreement having been obtained by fraud or undue influence or other improper means, he may refuse to record the memorandum of the agreement or may make such order, including an order as to any sum already paid under the agreement, as he thinks just in the circumstances.

Effect of failure to register agreement.

32. An agreement as to the payment of a lump sum whether by way of redemption of a half-monthly payment or otherwise if not registered as provided in section 31 shall not, nor shall the payment of the sum payable under the agreement, exempt the person by whom a lump sum or half-monthly payment is payable from liability to pay such lump sum or to continue to make such half-monthly payment, as the case may be, and an agreement as to the amount of compensation to be paid to a person under a legal disability or to dependants, if not so registered, shall not, nor shall the payment of any sum payable under the agreement, exempt the person by whom the compensation is payable from liability to pay the full amount of compensation as provided in this Act, unless in either case he proves that the failure to register was not due to any neglect or default on his part.

Appeals

33. An appeal shall lie to the High Court from the following orders of a Commissioner, namely :—

(a) an order awarding as compensation a lump sum whether by way of redemption of a half-monthly payment or otherwise or disallowing a claim for a lump sum ;

(b) an order refusing to allow redemption of a half-monthly payment ;

(c) an order providing for the distribution of compensation among the dependants of a deceased workman, or disallowing any claim of a person alleging himself to be such dependant ;

(d) an order allowing or disallowing any claim for the amount of an indemnity under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 15 ; or

(e) an order refusing to register a memorandum of agreement or registering the same or providing for the registration of the same subject to conditions :

Provided that no appeal shall lie against any order unless a substantial question of law is involved in the appeal and, in the case of an order other than an order such as is referred to in clause (b), unless the amount in dispute in the appeal is not less than three hundred rupees ;

Provided further, that no appeal shall lie in any case in which the parties have agreed to abide by the decision of the Commissioner, or in which the order of the Commissioner gives effect to an agreement come to by the parties.

(2) The period of limitation for an appeal under this section shall be sixty days.

Recovery

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The general principles of workmen's compensation command almost universal acceptance, and India is now nearly alone amongst civilised countries in being without legislation embodying these principles. For a number of years the more generous employers have been in the habit of giving compensation voluntarily, but this practice is by no means general. The growing complexity of industry in this country, with the increasing use of machinery and consequent danger to workmen, along with the comparative poverty of the workmen themselves, renders it advisable that they should be protected, as far as possible, from hardship arising from accidents.

2. An additional advantage of legislation of this type is that, by increasing the importance for the employer of adequate safety devices, it reduces the number of accidents to workmen in a manner that cannot be achieved by official inspection. Further, the encouragement given to employers to provide adequate medical treatment for their workmen should mitigate the effects of such accidents as do occur. The benefits so conferred on the workman added to the increased sense of security which he will enjoy, should render industrial life more attractive and thus increase the available supply of labour. At the same time, a corresponding increase in the efficiency of the average workman may be expected. A system of insurance would prevent the burden from pressing too heavily on any particular employer.

3. After a detailed examination of the question by the Government of India, Local Governments were addressed in July, 1921, and the provisional views of the Government of India were published for general information. The advisability of legislation has been accepted by the great majority of Local Governments and of employers' and workers' associations, and the Government of India believe that public opinion generally is in favour of legislation.

4. In June, 1922, a committee was convened to consider the question. This committee was composed, for the most part, of members of the Imperial Legislature. After considering the numerous replies and opinions received by the Government of India, the committee was unanimously in favour of legislation, and drew up detailed recommendations regarding the lines which, in its opinion, such legislation should follow. The Bill now presented follows these recommendations closely. A number of supplementary provisions have been added where necessary, but practically no variations of importance have been made.

5. The Bill contains two distinct proposals. In Chapter II modifications are made in the ordinary civil law affecting the liability of employers for damages in respect of injuries sustained by their workmen ; these clauses will operate only in actions before the ordinary civil courts. The main part of the Bill makes provision for workmen's compensation and sets up special machinery to deal with claims falling under this category.

6. Both parts of the Bill, however, apply to the same classes of workmen. If the scope of the employers' liability clauses was made wider than the scope of the workmen's compensation provisions, there would be considerable danger of a great increase in litigation. The classes included are those whose inclusion was recommended by the committee, and are specified in Schedule II. Two criteria have been followed in the determination of the classes to be included: —

(1) that the Bill should be confined to industries which are more or less organised ;

(2) that only workmen whose occupation is hazardous should be included.

7. The general principle is that compensation should ordinarily be given to workmen who sustained personal injuries by accidents arising out of and in the course of their employment. Compensation will also be given in certain limited circumstances for disease. The actual rates of compensation payable are based on the unanimous recommendations of the committee. They are in every case subject to fixed maxima, in accordance with the committee's recommendations. It should be remembered, however, that the more highly paid workmen will be enabled, in cases to which the employers' liability clauses will apply, to obtain damages on a scale considerably in excess of the maximum fixed for workmen's compensation.

8. A consistent endeavour has been made to give as little opportunity for disputes as possible. Throughout the Bill, in the definitions adopted, the scales selected, and the exceptions permitted, the great aim has been precision, in order that, in as few cases as possible should the validity of a claim for compensation or the amount of that claim be open to doubt. At the same time, on the unanimous recommendation of the committee, provision has been made for special Tribunals to deal cheaply and expeditiously with any disputes that may arise, and generally to assist the parties in a manner which is not possible for the ordinary civil courts.

9. Detailed explanations of the provisions of the Bill are given in the sub-joined Notes on Clauses.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 1 (3).—A comparatively long date has been allowed in order to give sufficient time for the discussion of the Bill and for the establishment of the machinery necessary for its smooth working, including the organisation of facilities for insurance.

Clause 2 (1) (a).—A division has been made at 15 years, because it is at or about this age that a large increase in the work and wages of a workman usually takes place. The age corresponds with the present minimum age for an adult under the Indian Factories Act, 1911.

Clause 2 (1) (c).—All the nearer relatives of a workman have been included. It will be unnecessary for the dependants to prove that they were actually dependent on the deceased workman. Provided that any one of them can prove the requisite relationship, compensation will be payable. At the same time, in the event of a dispute, it will be in the power of a Commissioner to distribute the compensation among the dependants as he thinks fit [see clause 11 (1)].

Clause 2 (1) (f).—A distinction is made between partial temporary disablement and partial permanent disablement. If a workman is temporarily disabled, it would be unreasonable to refuse compensation on the ground that he could obtain equally remunerative work elsewhere, as it would probably take him some time to obtain that work, and he would prefer to return to work with which he was familiar. On the other hand, if a workman has suffered no absolute loss of earning capacity, it is not justifiable to regard him as permanently disabled. If a workman sustaint any of the injuries specified in Schedule I, it will not be necessary for him to adduce any further proof of permanent disablement.

Clause 2 (1) (i).—The majority of Indian seamen are employed on ships which are registered in the United Kingdom, or whose managing owner has his principal place of business in the United Kingdom. Such seamen are already covered by the British Workmen's Compensation Act, and the inclusion of seamen in both Acts would lead to serious difficulties. The present definition includes all the remaining Indian seamen except—

(i) seamen serving on foreign ships,
(ii) seamen serving on the smaller coasting ships,
(iii) persons employed on small inland vessels.

It is scarcely practicable to legislate for foreign ships, which are virtually foreign soil. The small Indian ships excluded are owned as a rule by small employers, and are frequently manned on a family system

Clause 2 (1) (j)—If a workman sustains any combination of injuries specified in Schedule I, such that the aggregate percentage of loss as shown in that Schedule adds up to one hundred or more, it will be unnecessary for him to prove that he is totally disabled.

Clause 2 (1) (k)—In computing wages it will be necessary to estimate the value of any concessions in such matters as house-rent, food or clothing given by the employer.

Clause 2 (1) (l).—With the exception of railway workers, the classes of workmen covered by the Act are specified in Schedule II The exceptions are :—

(i) Non-manual workers drawing more than Rs. 300 a month Men of this type should be qualified, by their education and their means to make provision for themselves.

(ii) Casual labourers who are not employed for the purposes of the employer's trade or business There are obvious practical difficulties in the way of including such men, and they are generally excluded in other countries

(iii) The armed forces of the Crown. These men contract to serve on the understanding that they may be subjected to abnormal hazards and separate provision is made for those who sustain injuries in the course of their duties.

In the case of railway workers the first exception does not apply. With the exception of persons permanently employed in the larger railway offices, all railway employees have to undergo a certain amount of risk, and there would be great difficulty in making a distinction between manual and non-manual workers

Clause 2 (2) The sub-clause gives power to the Government of India to bring within the scope of the Act any class of workman whose occupation is more than usually hazardous At the same time, it will be possible, in the case of workmen so included, to impose restrictions of the type exemplified in clause 6 (1), proviso (c).

Clause 3—This clause is based on the provisions of the Employers' Liability Act, 1880 (43 & 44 Vict., c. 42), sections 1 and 2 The effect is to remove, in certain specified cases, a particular line of defence which may be open to the employer Under the English common law an employer is not ordinarily liable to any employee for any injury which arises from the act or default of a fellow employee and the majority of injuries probably arise in this way. This defence is generally regarded as inequitable

Clause 4.—This clause is intended to prevent any hardship which might be caused to workmen by the application of the common law doctrine of assumed risk, by which an employer is not liable for damage caused to his workmen through the ordinary risk of the employment, while a workman is presumed to have assumed any risk which is apparent at the time of entering on the employment, although in fact he may have had no knowledge of its existence.

Clause 5.—The period of limitation which must be observed if a workman is to have the benefit of clauses 3 and 4 is made to correspond with the period of limitation for workmen's compensation laid down in clause 13

Clause 6 (1), Proviso (a).—It is unnecessary to give compensation for very trivial injuries and to do so would result in malingering and would complicate the administration enormously. All Workmen's Compensation Acts, therefore, specify a waiting period; this is here fixed at ten days

Proviso (b).—If the workman himself is directly responsible for the accident, the employer should not ordinarily be liable for compensation. An exception is made in the case where very serious results arise from the accident, as it is felt that to deprive a workman of all compensation in such cases would act as a great hardship. Half the usual compensation is therefore allowed in cases where the workman is killed, or is completely disabled for life An additional argument for making an exception in such cases is that the effects of the accident will be acutely felt by others than the workman himself. No provision is made for the case of self-inflicted injuries, as injuries so caused would not be held to have arisen from an accident

Proviso (c) (i)—Sewage workers have been included in the Bill, only because they are subjected to the risk of losing their lives by sewer-gas poisoning. The application of the Bill in their case has therefore been restricted to this risk.

Proviso (c) (ii) The case of the building trades is one of great difficulty. Following the general principles, it is undesirable that unorganised industries should be included within the scope of the Bill. In the building trades, however, it is not possible to devise any logical definition which will include all those engaged in the more organised branches of work and exclude all the others. And in view of the fact that this industry is distinctly hazardous to the workman, it is undesirable to exclude it altogether. An endeavour has therefore been made, by means of the definition in Schedule II (vi), and the restriction here made, to surmount the administrative difficulties involved in the inclusion of this class of industry.

Clause 6 (2).—Certain occupations involve clear risks from specified diseases. If the workers in these occupations contract particular diseases, it is practically certain that the disease arose out of the employment. But most industrial diseases are contracted gradually, and in the case of a workman who has pursued the same occupation under several employers, it is not always possible to assign responsibility to any particular employer. This is especially the case as regards lead poisoning and phosphorus poisoning, the two diseases at present entered in Schedule III. On the other hand, anthrax is a disease which is not contracted gradually. The clause accordingly provides that, where a workman contracts one of the three specified occupational diseases, it is for the employer to prove that the disease did not result from the employment. Except in the case of anthrax, the grant of compensation is subject to the condition that six months should have elapsed since the workman took service with the employer concerned.

Clause 6 (3).—Power is given by this sub-clause to the Government of India to add occupational diseases to Schedule III, as further experience or the introduction of new industries renders this necessary.

Clause 6 (4).—A workman is not precluded from proving that he contracted any disease as the result of an accident. For example, a workman who contracted a mental disease as a result of a blow on his head should obviously have a claim for compensation. At the same time, in such cases, the workman will have to prove that the disease arose solely and directly from the injury he sustained.

Clause 6 (5).—In order to avoid unnecessary litigation, and to prevent double claims against employers, a workman who considers that, in addition to a claim for compensation he could also sue in a civil court for damages is compelled to choose which remedy he will take, and is bound by his own decision when taken. In the case of all but the most highly paid workmen, there would be little advantage in choosing to sue for damages, but a workman in receipt of a high salary may prefer to do so, as no limit is set to the amount he can recover in a civil court whereas strict limits are set to compensation.

Clause 7.—The results of injuries, so far as compensations are concerned, are divided into—

A. Death.

B. Permanent total disablement.

C. Permanent partial disablement.

D. Temporary disablement.

Many workmen are employed at very long distances from their homes, and when they are seriously injured, they will desire to return to their homes. It would be very inconvenient for such workmen to arrange for the transmission of small half-monthly payments, and the employer would be put to equal trouble by such an arrangement. In each of the first three cases provision is therefore made for payment by lump sums. In the fourth case, payment is ordinarily to be in a series of half-monthly sums Provision for commutation of such sums is made in clause 10.

In every case a distinction is drawn between adults and minors. This distinction is based on two considerations :—

(1) A minor does not ordinarily support a family ;

(2) A minor is usually in receipt of a much lower wage than he may reasonably expect to earn during the greater part of his working life.

It is therefore provided that in the case of the death of a minor compensation should be limited to Rs. 50 ; this sum will be sufficient to cover funeral expenses. On the other hand, if a minor is permanently disabled for life, he should obviously receive as much as an adult in the same class of society. On the assumption that his wages will normally be about half the wages of the corresponding adult, he is awarded for every permanent injury double the number of months' wages that an adult will receive but subject to the same maximum. In the case of temporary disablement, it would be difficult for a minor to live on one-half of his ordinary wages. He is therefore given two-thirds of his ordinary wages, and provision has been made in clause 9 for an increase in the amount when he attains 15 years of age.

Limits are set to compensation in every case. If an adult is killed or is totally disabled for life, the maximum compensation is that which a person in receipt of Rs. 83-5-4 a month would receive. For temporary disablement the corresponding limit is Rs. 60 a month. For a minor the limits are respectively, for permanent disablement Rs. 41-10-8, and for temporary disablement Rs. 45.

An endeavour has been made in Schedule I to specify all the commoner permanent injuries which are easily recognised, and to specify, by means of percentages of the compensation payable for permanent total disablement, definite sums and corresponding maxima. It is not possible to include every injury in such a Schedule, and it is provided that in other cases compensation should be based on the estimated loss of earning capacity.

It will be noticed that no distinction as regards compensation has been made between complete and partial temporary disablement, so-long as the injured man is not actually working. If the injured man is at work, the employer is entitled to deduct from his original wage, the wage that the workman is actually earning, before such compensation is calculated. Thus an employer is not entitled to reduce the amount of compensation payable merely because the injured man might be able to earn some money if he tried. Such a provision would necessitate the calculation in every case of the loss of earning capacity, with innumerable disputes in consequence. The employer is protected against fraud—

(1) by the exclusion of the trivial injuries on account of the ten days waiting period [Clause 6 (1) (a)] ;

(2) by the fact that a workman will find it difficult to support a family for any period on half wages ;

(3) by the power given by clause 9 to the employer to apply for review.

In no case does the compensation payable depend upon the actual number of surviving dependants. Numerous disputes regarding relationship, and long delays in preparing a complete list of relationships are thus avoided. At the same time, the employer is not tempted to discriminate against men with numerous relations.

Clause 8.—The provisions contained in sub-clauses (a) and (b) are designed to give fair estimates of the average actual earnings of a workman. The sums so reached are to be converted into a second set of sums, in accordance with the table given in Schedule IV. The object of this conversion is to prevent disputes regarding small differences in the employer's and workman's estimate of the wage. Such differences will not infrequently arise, especially when the difficulty of estimating the value of a free house and similar concessions is remembered. The effect of the Schedule is to render minor differences immaterial in most cases.

Clause 9.—Provision is made for review on the application of either party, but it is intended that review should not normally take place unless a medical certificate indicating a change is furnished. It may, however, be desirable that the review should take place in other cases, and it is intended to make provision for this by rules.

Special provision is made for minors in order that, on attaining the age of 15 years, they may be placed in a position as favourable as if the accident had occurred after, instead of before, they had attained their majority. (See note on clause 7.)

Clause 10.—Half-monthly payments may at any time be commuted to lump sums by agreement of the parties, but subject to certain safeguards contained in clause 31. At the same time, provision is made for commutation on the application of either party after six months have elasped. This is designed to protect an employer when a workman with a comparatively trifling injury declines to return to work, and to assist a workman who wishes to return to his home, when the employer refuses to come to a final settlement.

Clause 11.—When a workman is killed, the employer is not directly interested in the actual number of dependants, and some time may elapse before sufficient information is available to enable the money to be equitably distributed. The responsibility of distribution is therefore thrown on the Commissioner, who will examine the extent to which each claimant should benefit, and will make inquiries regarding absent dependants, if necessary. Employers are also enabled to deposit any compensation payable with the Commissioner, and to obtain their discharge from him. The Commissioner is also made responsible for the adequate protection of the interests of minors.

Cases may arise where it is difficult to form conclusions regarding the results of an accident. For example, in the case of a minor who is in a critical condition there will be a very large difference in the sum payable in the cases where he does or does not die before the employer pays compensation or the Commissioner makes his award. The Commissioner is therefore empowered by sub-clause (7) to suspend final decision of the case, and to order half-monthly payments, but in no case will such payments be recoverable from the workmen.

Clause 12.—This is designed, as far as is possible, to protect workmen from claims by money-lenders and others.

Clause 13.—In order to prevent fraudulent claims, it is essential that the period of notice should be as short as possible. Seventy-two hours has been fixed as the normal period, but power is given to the Commissioner to extend the period in hard cases. Special provision is made for seamen in clause 18 (1).

Clause 14.—It is essential that an employer should be in a position to satisfy himself that a workman is actually injured and necessary provision is made in sub-clauses (1), (2) and (3).

It is easily possible for a workman to aggrevate his injuries seriously by failing to take adequate medical precautions. For example a workman who has sustained a trifling cut may, by failure to disinfect the wound, cause his own death from tetanus or blood poisning. Sub-clause (4) protects an employer against such aggravation, but only in cases where he has offered qualified medical attendance free of charge. It is hoped that a provision of this kind will encourage employers to provide good medical treatment for their workers.

Clause 15 (1).—Where a employer does his work through contractors, special provision is necessary. In some cases the employer can reasonably be held responsible for the conditions of employment; in other cases he cannot. The distinction made here is between contractors who are employed in the course of, or for the purposes of, the original employer's trade or business and those who are not. Only in the latter case will the contractor be liable to pay the compensation; in all other cases the original employer will be liable. Thus for example, if a mine owner engages his labour by means of contractors who supervise these men while at work, the mine owner will be responsible. But if the owner of a cotton mill employs an engineering firm to erect an extension to his mill, the engineering firm will be liable to pay compensation to the men they employ.

Clause 15 (2).—This is a temporary provision, designed to cover the case of contracts made before the Act comes into force.

Clause 15 (3).—Two exceptions are made. If a contractor does his work elsewhere than in or about the original employer's premises, the latter has no real control over the safety of the workman, and he is therefore relieved from responsibility. In the second place, in view of the provisions of clause 2 (2), it is necessary to insert exception (b) in order to avoid placing local authorities and Government departments at a disadvantage. If a municipality engages an engineering firm to construct a new water works, it is obviously the contracting firm which should pay compensation to the workmen it employs.

Clause 16.—Where a third party was responsible for the accident, this clause enables the employer to recover from that third party any compensation he has paid to his workmen, in addition to any other damages he may be able to claim.

Clause 17.—This clause follows generally the lines of section 5 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (6 Edw. 7, c. 58), but goes somewhat further in the endeavour to protect workmen against loss in the event of the bankruptcy of their employers. The effect is to give the workman all the rights which his employer would have had against any person or company with whom the employer may be insured. Sub-clause (3) goes a little further than this in providing that a breach of the contract by the employer shall not operate against the workman so long as the premia have been regularly paid. Thus, if the contract contained a condition that the employer should provide certain safety devices, and this condition had been violated by the employer, that fact would not prevent the workman from recovering from the insurance company: the latter would, however, retain a claim against the employer.

The workman is further protected by the priority given to his claim in bankruptcy proceedings.

Clause 18.—The special provisions made for seamen follow closely the lines of section 7 (1) of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (6 Edw. 7, c. 58), but it is not legally possible to abrogate section 503 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 (57 & 58 Vict., c. 60), which imposes a statutory limit on the liability of a ship-owner.

Clause 20.—The prevention of contracting out is essential in order to ensure to workmen the benefits of the Act.

Clause 21.—No person can be employed in a factory as a child unless he is in possession of a certificate from a certifying surgeon declaring his age. It should not be possible for either the employer or the workman to attempt to prove that the certificate did not give the correct age of the workman, when, as a matter of fact, the conditions of employment had been determined by the age so given. This clause will estop such a plea.

Clause 22.—No case can be taken to a Commissioner until the parties have made a previous attempt to settle it by agreement. [Cf. clause 25 (1)].

Clause 23.—This clause will not operate to prevent a Local Government from appointing an ordinary judicial officer to act as a Commissioner for any area, but such a Commissioner, if appointed, will act as a Commissioner and not as a Judge.

Clauses 24 to 27.—These are of a purely formal nature. Further provision for regulating the transfer of cases from one Commissioner to another is made in clause 35 (2) (d).

Clause 28.—The method of recording evidence adopted follows generally the method prescribed in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the hearing of summons-cases.

Clause 30.—The Commissioner may be enabled, by the use of this clause, to avoid an appeal and consequent expense to the parties.

Clauses 31 and 32.—The registration of agreements is not made compulsory, as such a step would involve the bringing of a large number of unimportant cases before the Commissioner. But agreements of certain kinds which have not been registered will confer no immunity from liability to pay compensation. As there is considerable danger that workmen may be willing to commute half-monthly payments for inadequate sums, discretion is left to the Commissioner to refuse to register an agreement and to pass any order he thinks fit in such a case.

Clause 33.—An endeavour has been made to limit appeals as far as is reasonable.

It will be noticed that an order for the payment of half-monthly sums is not appealable, but, if it is likely that any large sum will eventually be involved in such payments, it is open to either party to apply for commutation at the end of six months (i.e., when the total compensation paid will not have exceeded Rs. 180). An order awarding any substantial sum, and an order refusing to allow commutation, will then equally be appealable.

Clause 34.—This will enable the Commissioner to secure prompt payment of any compensation due.

Clauses 35 to 37.—These are for the most part consequential on previous clauses. It will be open to any Local Government which desires to do so to remit court-fees in compensation cases.

Schedule II (ii).—The effect of this is to include all factories which employ not less than 20 persons and which use steam, water or other mechanical power or electrical power.

THE SCHEDULE.

(See section 50).

ENACTMENTS REPEALED.

Year.	No.	Short title.	Extent of repeal.
1901	VIII	The Indian Mines Act, 1901	The whole.
1914	IV	The Decentralisation Act, 1914.	So much of the Schedule as relates to the Indian Mines Act, 1901.
"	X	The Repealing and Amending Act, 1914	So much of the Second Schedule as relates to the Indian Mines Act, 1901,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Several reasons exist which necessitate an amendment of the existing Indian Mines Act, 1901 (VIII of 1901). The 'regulation of mines' is a central subject, and it is now necessary clearly to define the functions of the Central and Provincial Governments, respectively, in respect of the mining law. At present no such division of functions is apparent, both the Central and the Local Governments having power to make rules in order to carry out the purposes and objects of the Act. It is proposed that the Central Government, upon whom under the Devolution Rules the duty of regulating mines and securing the safety of workers therein devolves, should alone have the power to deal with the technical administration of the Act, while Local Governments will deal with minor matters of administration.

2. Further, the acceptance by the Legislature in March, 1921, of certain conventions passed at the first (Washington) meeting of the International Labour Conference necessitates the regulation of hours of employment and of the employment of children. Provisions in accordance with these recommendations have been incorporated in the Bill. In accordance too, with the recommendation of the third (Geneva) meeting of the International Labour Conference, a weekly day of rest will be prescribed. On the analogy of the revised Factories Act, the Governor-General in Council is being given the power to exempt certain classes of labour from the provisions relating to the hours of employment and the weekly day of rest. Of the other amendments proposed, the most important are a revision of the 'penalty' clauses, and the modification of the existing definitions of a 'child' and of a 'mine.' In the appended Notes an explanation is given of the more important changes which have been introduced in the amending Bill.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 3 (c).—The present definition defines a child as a person under 12 years of age. For persons over 12 and under 15, it would be desirable, on the analogy of the Indian Factories Act, 1911, to institute a half-time system, but, owing to the conditions under which Indian mine labour works, it is impracticable to insist on such a system in Indian mines. It is, therefore, suggested that the difficulty may be met by increasing the age-limit of a child to 13 and treating all persons above that age as adults.

Clause 3 (d).—The present definition of a mine is unsatisfactory, being a mixture of the definition of a mine as defined by the English Coal Mines Regulation and of a quarry as defined in the English Quarries Act. The amended definition in the Bill will being within the scope of the Act any excavation for the purpose of searching for or obtaining minerals, whatever the depth may be, and will also include the upper works as well as the operations below the surface. Three provisos have been added which exclude from the definition and, therefore, from the operation of the Mines Act, the premises where manufacturing processes other than coke-making or the dressing of minerals are carried on, small excavations in which work has been abandoned after less than three months, and minor prospecting operations. The Governments of Bengal and Bihar and Orissa, the Association of Colliery Managers, the Indian Mining Association, the Indian Mining Federation and the Mining Board, Bengal, agree with the terms of the revised definition. While minor coke-making plants will come within the scope of the Mines Act, it is proposed to exempt major coke-making plants under the general exempting clause 46, as it is thought that they can more satisfactorily be dealt with under the Indian Factories Act, 1911.

Clause 3 (j).—As a weekly day of rest is to be prescribed, it is necessary, on the analogy of the Indian Factories Act, 1911, to define a 'week.'

Clause 4.—Under the existing Act, the Governor-General appoints the Chief Inspector of Mines, while Local Governments appoint the Inspectors of Mines. The Inspectors are subordinate to the Chief Inspector and not to be Local Government; the functions which they perform are concerned with the regulation and inspection of mines which is a central subject, and they are paid for by the Central Government. It is, therefore, anomalous that they should be appointed by Provincial Governments. In actual fact, such appointments are only nominally made by the Local Governments, and it is proposed to remove the anomaly in the present Bill. Local Governments have been consulted and agree with this proposal.

Clause 6.—The provision in the existing Act, empowering an Inspector to prohibit the employment of certain classes of persons in mines, e.g., lepers or persons suffering from other infectious diseases, has been omitted from the Bill. In their own interests mine managers prohibit the employment of such persons, and the existing clause is in practice a dead letter.

Clause 7.—This is a new clause, the introduction of which has been found to be necessary. For instance, if the galleries are approching the ground below a railway line, it is necessary for the Inspector to send in a surveyor in order to ensure that the galleries have not actually been extended beneath the line and do not thereby imperil its safety.

Clause 10 (c)—In accordance with a suggestion made in the Legislative Assembly, provision is made for the inclusion in the Mining Board and also in Committes (vide clause 11) of a person nominated by the Local Government to represent the interests of persons employed in the mines.

Clause 15.—The corresponding section (No. 30) in the existing Act has been amplified on the lines of the English Act of 1911. In the case of a number of small mines situated close together, it may not be necessary to have a duly qualified manager for each ; the expense would in fact be prohibitive. Power is, therefore, reserved to modify this clause by regulation under the regulation-making clause No. 29.

Clause 17.—This is new, but follows the Indian Factories Act, 1911, as recently amended.

Clause 18.—This reproduces an existing rule. It is thought desirable that it should be included in the body of the Act.

Clause 19 (2).—The existing section provides only for the removal of women and children in cases of urgent and immediate danger. The draft Bill empowers the Inspector to remove all persons in such circumstances, with the exception of those whose continuous employment is necessary for the purpose of removing the threatened danger. It will be noted that in such cases an appeal lies from the order of the inspector.

Clauses 23, 24 and 25.—These new clauses restricting the hours of employment have been inserted in order to conform with the recommendations of the meetings of the International Labour Conference at Washington and Geneva. In one important class of mines, namely, coal mines in Bengal and Bihar and Orissa, miners rarely work more than three or four days a week, and the restriction in the hours of labour will not cause hardship either to them or to the mine owners. There are, however, certain classes of labour (such as that of pumpmen), which is of an intermittent kind, and it may be desirable, at any rate for the present, to exempt such from the ordinary rules regarding hours of employment. The Governor-General in Council can grant such exemption under clause 46. Provision is also made in the Act to enable a mine manager or the Local Government to contravene clause 23 in case of an emergency.

Clause 26.—In the existing Act there is no restriction regarding the employment of children (other than that rendered possible by sub-clause (2) of clause 15 of the Act). In accordance with the recommendation of the International Labour Conference which has been accepted by the Legislature and the Government of India, the employment of children below 12 years of age must now be prohibted. As explained above, it would be desirable to prescribe a half-time system for children above 12 years of age, but, in view of the practical difficulties in the way of adopting this system, it is proposed to meet the case by increasing the age of a child to 13 years and to treat all persons above that age as adults.

At present infant children are (to some extent) taken down the mines by their parents in cases where there is no one with whom they can be left on the surface. This practice obviously impairs the health of the children, and it is therefore proposed to prohibit their presence in the mines at all. The effect of this measure may be to prevent a certain number of women, who would otherwise do mining work, from going down the mine, but in the interests of the health of the community, it is thought that this risk should be faced.

Clause 27.—As mine labour is fluid, it is at present impracticable to insist on each person employed in a mine having a certificate of age, as is required in the case of factories. Provision is, therefore, being made—

(1) to meet the case of disputes between the inspecting staff and the mines staff as to the age of a child, and

(2) to render the adoption of the certification system possible when circumstances permit

Local Governments are being given power under clause 30 to prescribe a certification system in cases where they think it to be practicable.

Clause 28.—If the restrictions on hours of employment are not to be a dead letter, the registers prescribed in this clause must be maintained.

Clause 29.—This clause empowers the Central Government to make regulations (so called in order to distinguish them from the rules made by Local Governments under the following clause), which will deal with all technical matters under the Act. The Local Government under clause 30 is given power to make rules dealing with the general administration of the Act in so far as technical matters are not concerned. This division of functions follows on the Devolution Rules and has been accepted by Local Governments.

Clause 32.—The term "bye-laws" is used instead of the existing phrase "special rules" in order to distinguish them from the "regulations" made by the Central Government and the "rules" made by Local Governments.

Clauses 34 to 40.—The existing penalty section (No. 22) has been found difficult of interpretation in actual practice, as the various offences and penalties therefor have been to some extent confused. The opportunity is now being taken to re-draft the section in a clearer form. The existing section also provides an inadequate penalty (a maximum term of imprisonment for three months) for the contravention of an order which may result in death or serious bodily injury. Under proposed clause 40 the maximum penalty which can be inflicted for this offence has been increased.

Clause 46.—Under the existing Act, the power to exempt any mine or group or class of mines from the provisions of the Act rests with the Local Government. As, however, the Central Government is responsible for the administration of the Act, for the regulation of mines and for the safety of persons employed therein, the power to exempt any particular mine or class of mines in the Act must with the Central Government. The existing clause has been modified accordingly, with the agreement of Local Governments. This clause can also be used to exempt any classes of labour other than children from the provisions of the Act.

The Local Government is given the power to make a special order of exemption in case of a public emergency.

Second Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1922-23.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1920-21, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·2 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.]

There are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State and to a small extent in other districts. The "late" crop is grown in Bankura, Midnapore and Mymensingh.

Character of the Season.—As reported in the first forecast, the weather at the outset was not favourable to the early crop owing to exceptionally dry weather. Subsequent conditions proved favourable for some time and enabled the crop to recover to some extent. But the weather recently being too wet is likely to affect the crop adversely. The present condition is reported to be only fair.

Area sown.—The area sown with early cotton is reported to be 70,186 acres this year against 64,174 acres (now revised) in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Of the late crop 13 acres only are reported to have been sown up to date against 310 acres (now revised) reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

Second Forecast of the Sugarcane Crop of Bengal, 1922-23.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1920-21 the area under sugarcane in Bengal has represented some 8·2 per cent. of the total area under sugarcane in British India.)

Character of the season.—As reported in the first forecast, the weather was exceptionally dry during the early part of the season hampering the planting operation and seriously interfering with the growth of the crop. Subsequent rainfall greatly improved the prospects of the crop. Floods, however, did some damage in the lowlying tracts, notably in the districts of Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah and Bakarganj. The present condition is reported as fair.

Area planted.—The total area planted with sugarcane for the province is reported to be 200,500 acres this year, against 220,600 and 220,900 acres reported, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of District Officers, the average outturn for the province works out at 76 per cent. of the normal this year, against 83 and 82 per cent., respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORTS OF THE BENGAL VETERINARY COLLEGE AND OF THE CIVIL VETERINARY DEPARTMENT, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1921-22.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRIES.

Veterinary.

CALCUTTA, THE 4TH OCTOBER 1922.

RESOLUTION—No. 215T.A.I.

Minister in charge : The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri, Khan Bahadur, C.I.E.

READ—

The Annual Reports of the Bengal Veterinary College and of the Civil Veterinary Department, Bengal, for the year 1921-22.

COLONEL A. SMITH, Principal, Bengal Veterinary College, held charge of the College and of the office of Veterinary Adviser to Government throughout the year. Mr. P. J. Kerr was in charge of the Civil Veterinary Department in addition to his own duties as Second Imperial Officer, Bengal Veterinary College, from the beginning of the year till the 30th July 1921, and Mr. A. D. MacGregor on return from leave held charge of the department for the remaining period of the year under report.

2. The number of students at the Bengal Veterinary College at the end of the session was 143, the figures for the three previous years being 127, 158 and 165, respectively. Though the number during the year under report was slightly lower than the average of the past three years, it is satisfactory to note that as many as half the number belong to this province and that the educational standard of the students is gradually rising. Forty-four students appeared at the final examination and 36 passed, of whom 12 belonged to Bengal.

3. The report of the Civil Veterinary Department indicates that the year under review was on the whole a healthy one for the livestock of the province, in comparison with the preceding year. The mortality from contagious diseases during the year was 16,142 against 19,344 in the year 1920-21. Of the total number of deaths rinderpest was responsible for 13,304 or nearly three-fourths, against 17,425 during the preceding year. The districts which suffered most from this disease were Rajshahi, Tippera, Murshidabad, Mymensingh, Burdwan and Bakarganj.

During the year the veterinary assistants attended 458 outbreaks of disease in which preventive inoculation was undertaken, and the total number of cattle inoculated was 76,340 as against 539 outbreaks and 86,354 cattle inoculated during the previous year. The number of deaths among inoculated cattle was 408 or ·5 per cent. of the total. The number inoculated against rinderpest was 68,717 against 83,263 in the previous year. This decrease is attributed partly to the fact that rinderpest was less prevalent during the year under review and to the delay in the receipt of reports of outbreaks in certain cases, but partly also to the prejudice against this method of treatment which still exists in some districts. Government recognise that the eradication of this prejudice must be gradual. There is no doubt that the short period of protection afforded by the ordinary method is to some extent responsible for the antipathy which exists against preventive inoculation. Government believe that the rate of progress would be considerably hastened if the serum-simultaneous method of inoculation, which confers immunity of a more or less permanent character on the animals protected, could be generally adopted. The difficulty however is that this method can only be practised by a much more highly trained staff than is at present available. The Superintendent mentions that certain district boards opposed the submission of indents for the quantity of serum required, and proposed that the cost of serum should be met by charging fees for inoculation. While Government recognise that many district boards have to exercise strict economy in order to make their income cover their expenditure, they regard inoculation against rinderpest as a duty which cannot be neglected in a province where the population is so largely dependent upon agriculture as in Bengal. The levy of fees would undoubtedly give a serious set-back to the spread of inoculation. The Government are glad to learn that after considering the Superintendent's representations, the district boards in question rescinded their orders.

Leaflets with regard to the care, management and treatment of cattle were freely distributed as in previous years. The thanks of Government are particularly due to the district board of Midnapore for the assistance rendered to the department by distributing, at the cost of the board, pamphlets in regard to veterinary treatment, and it is hoped that other local bodies will follow this example.

4. The itinerant veterinary assistants visited 12,084 villages and treated 67,511 cases during the year under report, the corresponding figures for the two previous years being 12,831 villages and 58,761 animals and 12,756 villages and 69,584 animals respectively.

5. At the instance of the Hon'ble Minister in charge arrangements were made to have a course of lectures delivered by the stationary veterinary assistants at Dacca, Chinsura and Rangpur to the demonstrators of the Agricultural Department. It is hoped that this arrangement will lead to greater and prompter attention being paid to the welfare of the livestock of the province.

6. All the stables and cattle sheds in the Calcutta Glanders area were regularly inspected by the Glanders staff.

7. Two new dispensaries, an in-door one at Midnapore and an out-door one at Kalimpong, were opened during the year, bringing the total number of such institutions to 39. The number of patients treated at these dispensaries during the year was 43,800 against 41,074 in the previous year. While a number of the district boards are evincing an increased interest in veterinary work by starting new dispensaries and improving the existing ones, it is regrettable to notice that there are four district head-quarters (viz., Pabna, Murshidabad, Jessore and the 24-Parganas) in this presidency which are still without veterinary hospitals. In the case of Pabna it appears that the district board has not yet been able to provide funds for the construction of a building, although land was acquired for the purpose some seven years ago. Government trust that these district boards will take early measures for the establishment of veterinary hospitals in their respective head-quarters.

8. It is satisfactory to note that the number of stud bulls maintained in the province is steadily increasing, the number during the year under report being 156 against 104, 124 and 132 in the preceding three years. Of the total number of bulls maintained during the year, 62 belonged to local bodies, some of whom are reported to be taking a lively interest in the matter. But Government agree with the Superintendent, Civil Veterinary Department, that the number is far below the requirements of the province and share his hopes that those local bodies which have not yet taken up the matter will co-operate with the department by allotting funds for the purchase and maintenance of more stud bulls, especially in the outlying portions of the districts.

9. His Excellency the Governor, acting with the Minister in charge, has much pleasure in acknowledging the valuable services of Col. A. Smith as the Principal of the Bengal Veterinary College and in recording his appreciation of the work of Messrs. P. J. Kerr and A. D. MacGregor in efficiently managing the Civil Veterinary Department of this presidency. The names of other officers commended by the Superintendent have also been noted.

By order of the Government of Bengal

PART IA.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following resolution issued by the Government of India in the Finance Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 7th October 1922, is republished for general information.

A. CASSELLS,
Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

RESOLUTION.

SALARIES ESTABLISHMENTS, ETC.
RULES AND GENERAL MATTERS.

Simla, the 29th September 1922.

No. 1448-E.A.—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council has been pleased to make the rules appended to this Resoluton, defining the classes of expenditure from central revenues upon subjects* other than provincial subjects which the Governor-General in Council may not sanction without the previous consent of the Secretary of State in Council. These rules supersede all previous rules of a similar nature and, subject to their observance, orders regarding specific cases of expenditure passed by the Secretary of State in Council under regulations previously in force will no longer be binding.

2. If the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is required by these rules to any expenditure, such sanction should ordinarily be obtained before the Legislative Assembly is asked to vote supply to meet the expenditure. The Governor-General in Council may depart from this rule in cases of extreme urgency, where the time available is so short that sanction cannot be obtained by telegraph; but in such a case a statement showing all schemes for which supply has been asked before sanction has been obtained must be submitted to the Secretary of State as soon as possible after the presentation of the demands to the Assembly.

3. The Governor-General in Council may sanction an excess over an estimate which has, prior to the introduction of these rules, received the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council if the total cost of the estimate, as increased by the excess, is within the powers of sanction conferred upon the Governor-General in Council by these rules; and may sanction the extension of a temporary post which has received similar sanction if he would, under these rules, be competent to sanction the creation of such a post for the full term as extended.

Note*—Since the enactment of the Government of India Act, 1919, and of the Devolution Rules it is not permissible to incur expenditure from central revenues on provincial subjects or to make assignments from central to provincial revenues for expenditure on a provincial subject except in so far as such expenditure may be necessary in connection with matters covered by item 52 in Part II of Schedule I to the Devolution Rules or represents payment for services rendered by the Local Government.

4. Subject to the observance of these rules and to the provisions of section 67-A of the Government of India Act, the Governor-General in Council has full power to sanction expenditure from central revenues upon subjects other than provincial subjects and, with the previous consent of the Finance Department, to delegate such power upon such conditions as he may think fit either to any officer subordinate to him or to a local Government acting as his agent in relation to a central subject. Any sanction given under this rule will remain valid for the specified period for which it is given, subject in the case of voted expenditure to the voting of supply in each year. Orders of delegation passed under this rule may contain a provision for re-delegation by the authority to which the powers are delegated.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

Rules relating to expenditure by the Government of India on subjects other than provincial.

The previous sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is necessary :—

(1) To the creation of any new or the abolition of any existing permanent post, or to the increase or reduction of the pay drawn by the incumbent of any permanent post, if the post in either case is one which would ordinarily be held by a member of one of the services named in the Schedule, or to the increase or reduction of the cadre of any of those services.

(4) To the grant to any Government servant or to the family or other dependants of any deceased Government servant of an allowance, pension or gratuity which is not admissible under rules made or for the time being in force under section 96-B of the Government of India Act, except in the following cases :—

(5) To any expenditure on the purchase of imported stores or stationery, otherwise than in accordance with such rules as may be made in this behalf by the Secretary of State in Council

(6) To any expenditure, otherwise than in accordance with such rules as have been or may be laid down in this behalf by the Secretary of State in Council, upon—

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 12th September, 1922 :—

No. 25 OF 1922.

BILL

to amend the Hindu Law of Succession.

WHEREAS there is difference of opinion as regards the right of illegitimate sons to succeed and their shares in the case of Sudras ;

And whereas the term Sudra is indiscriminately applied to various communities who do not come within that category, and attempts to determine the caste in certain cases are likely to lead to harmful and acrimonious disputes which are not desirable in the public interests ;

And whereas it is desirable that in the Hindu Law of Succession there should not be any distinctions based on caste ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Illegitimate Sons Rights Act, 192 .

Illegitimate son of Hindu not to inherit property of putative father

2. The illegitimate son of a Hindu of any caste shall not be entitled to inherit or claim any share in the property belonging to the putative father at his death either solely or jointly along with other coparceners, nor shall he be entitled to take the property of the legitimate sons or other descendants of his putative father, either by inheritance or by survivorship.

Saving of rights already admitted or subject of suit

3 This Act applies to all illegitimate sons whose right has not either been admitted or made the subject of a claim in a Civil Court having jurisdiction to entertain the suit.

Illegitimate son's right to maintenance not affected

4. The right of illegitimate sons to maintenance is not in any way affected by this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE difference in the Hindu Law of Succession between illegitimate sons of the three regenerate classes and of the fourth, having been based on the indefiniteness of the marriage sacrament, and looseness of the marriage tie among the latter in ancient times, and they having very much advanced socially, so that the ceremonial and marriage tie among them now is as rigorous as among the first three classes except in the case of a very few communities, it is necessary that this difference should be removed and this Bill is introduced, with the object of making the Hindu Law of Succession uniform for all classes to whom it is applicable.

A

BILL

further to amend the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend certain provisions of the law relating to Legal Practitioners, in the manner hereinafter appearing ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Legal Practitioners (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Substitution of new section 4 of Act XVIII of 1879

2. For section 4 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, the following shall be substituted, namely :— XVIII of 1879

Advocates and Vakils.

"4. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary provided by any law or by any rule framed by any High Court under the Letters Patent constituting such Court or otherwise, every person now or hereinafter entered as an Advocate or as a Vakil on the roll of any High Court under such Letters Patent or under section 41 of this Act, shall be entitled to practise in all matters in the Original as well as Appellate jurisdiction of the Court on the roll of which he is entered.

(2) Every such Advocate or Vakil shall be entitled to practise in all the Courts subordinate to the Court on the roll of which he is entered, and in all revenue-offices situate within the local limits of the appellate jurisdiction of such Court, subject, nevertheless to the rules in force relating to the language in which the Court or office is to be addressed by pleaders or revenue-agents ; and any person so entered who ordinarily practises in the Court on the roll of which he is entered or some Court subordinate thereto shall, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be entitled, as such, to practise in any Court in British India other than a High Court on whose roll he is not entered, or, with the permission of the Court, in any High Court on whose roll he is not entered, and in any revenue-office.

(3) Advocates and Vakils entered on the rolls of any High Court shall, in the conduct of cases, have pre-audience according to the respective dates of their enrolment."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE distinctions between Barristers, enrolled as Advocates, and Vakils, practising in the different Indian High Courts, in the matter of professional rights and privileges, have long been the subject of adverse comment.

Whatever the initial reasons for inequalities based on differences in law, procedure and language in vogue in the highest Courts in the early days of British rule in India, there can no longer be any justification for their continuance, particularly in view of our insistent demand for the recognition of indigenous talent in every other branch of life. The injustice of the position is known to have struck some of the distinguished legal and educational authorities in England also, who have favoured the suggestion for the establishment of a self-contained Indian-Bar, on the lines of Colonial Bars, to which Barristers and Indian-trained pleaders would be admitted on equal terms. This very idea was mooted in the Legislative Assembly in February 1921, in a Resolution moved by Munshi Iswar Saran. The present Bill does not, however, seek to give effect to the ambitious scheme put forward in that connection. It may be looked upon as a tentative measure which, while retaining Advocates and Vakils as two distinct classes, only seeks to remove the principal disabilities of the latter. It will enable Vakils to practise in all matters in the Original Side of those High Courts in which they are not so authorised at present It will also do away with the practice under which Advocates take precedence over Vakils, irrespective of their length of practice at the Bar.

The distinctions which this Bill aims at removing owe their existence either to rules framed by the High Courts under their Letters Patent, or otherwise, or to rules of practice recognised by them. The reforms which the Bill has in view could, therefore, be brought about by the High Courts themselves. As matters stand, however, the privileges and disabilities of the Vakils are not the same in all the High Courts ; and much as uniformity is desirable in these matters, there is no machinery other than legislation which can secure it. Moreover, it can be claimed that the present Bill is the reflex of strong public opinion in a matter of some national importance, which the Legislature more than any other authority is bound to take into account.

K. C. NEOGY.

The 26th July, 1922.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—Proposed sub-section (1) of section 4 of Act XVIII of 1879.—This authorises Vakils to practise in matters in the Original Side in all the High Courts uniformly, notwithstanding the present bars to such privilege in some of the High Courts. Incidentally, it also recognises the existing right of Advocates to practise in the Original as well as Appellate Side of the High Courts, and of the Vakils to practise in the Appellate Side.

Proposed sub-section (2) of section 4 of Act XVIII of 1879.—This practically reproduces the provisions of the existing section 4 of the Act, minus its proviso.

Proposed sub-section (3) of section 4 of Act XVIII of 1879.—This prescribes the order of pre-audience as between Advocates and Vakils, according to the dates of their enrolment.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 6th September, 1922 :—

No 19 OF 1922.

BILL

further to amend the Court-fees Act, 1870.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Court-fees Act, 1870 ; It is hereby enacted as follows :— VII of 1870

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Court-fees (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Amendment of section 4, Act VII of 1870

2. In section 4 of the Court-fees Act, 1870, for the words " judgment of two " the words and brackets " judgments (other than judgments passed in the exercise of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the Court) of one " shall be substituted. VII of 1870

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE High Court of Judicature at Allahabad has recently held that no Court-fee is leviable under section 4 of the Court-fees Act, 1870 (VII of 1870), in an appeal under the Letters Patent of the various High Courts from the judgment of one Judge of the Court. This was never the intention of the law, and this Bill, therefore, proposes to amend section 4 of the Act so as to provide for the levy of Court-fees on appeals from the judgments of one or more Judges of a High Court, other than judgments passed in the exercise of ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 20th September, 1922.

A

BILL

to define the liability of a Hindu Coparcener.

WHEREAS doubts have arisen as to the liability of a Hindu coparcener, subject to the Mitakshara Law, for the debts incurred by the manager for family necessity, and also as regards the antecedent debt of the father ;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to define his liability ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :

Short title, commencement and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Hindu Coparcener's Liability Act, 192 .

(2) It shall come into force on the day of

(3) It shall extend to persons subject to the Mitakshara Law in the whole of British India.

Interpretation clause.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(i) "coparcener" includes a minor member of a joint Mitakshara family ;

(ii) "debt" includes a pecuniary obligation arising out of a contract, express or implied, or from a breach of civil duty ;

(iii) "antecedent debt", with reference to a transfer made by the father, means a debt contracted prior thereto in a transaction unconnected therewith.

Explanation.—A debt may be antecedent though it was contracted on the security of coparcenary estate.

Coparcener's share when liable.

3. Notwithstanding anything otherwise held to the contrary, the interest of a member of a joint Mitakshara family in the family property shall be liable for a debt incurred by the manager for legal necessity or for the benefit of the estate, and where the debt is incurred by the father, also for his own antecedent debt, not illegal or immoral.

Extent of son's liability.

4. The son is liable to pay his father's debts, not illegal or immoral, to the extent of his interest in the coparcenary estate, or of the assets inherited by him.

Save as above such liability is otherwise co-extensive with that of the father and is not dependent upon the latter's death.

Creditor's suit against the son

5. (1) The unsecured creditor suing the son for the recovery of his father's debt must prove the debt.

(2) It is then upon the son to prove that the debt was non-existent, or that it was illegal or immoral, of which fact the creditor had notice.

(3) The creditor may then show that he had made the loan after reasonable inquiry, being satisfied that it was required for a purpose neither illegal nor immoral.

Mortgagee's suit against co-parceners

6. In a suit on a mortgage executed by the father or manager against the other coparceners, it lies on the mortgagee to prove that the debt was contracted for a purpose binding upon them.

Joinder of parties.

7. In a suit instituted to enforce a mortgage executed by the manager, the other members are proper parties, but their non-joinder does not exempt them from liability, if it appears that they were sufficiently represented by the manager.

Burden where purchaser is in possession

8. (1) It lies on the coparcener suing for recovery of joint property sold by the manager to prove that the sale was one which, by its nature and purpose, did not bind his interest, and that the purchaser had notice of it.

(2) In a sale made in execution of a decree obtained against the manager, the Court will presume that the purchaser, if a stranger to the suit, had no notice of anything that does not appear in the decree.

Effect of decree against the manager

9. (1) A decree passed against the manager in respect of a liability incurred within the scope of his authority is enforceable against the other members of the joint family, though they may not have been parties to the suit.

(2) But in such case the other members are not precluded from contesting the authority of the manager or the binding nature of the debt.

(3) Where a decree directs sale of the rights, title and interest of the defendant in any property, the question whether the sale so made suffices to pass the entire estate of which the defendant was the manager or only his own interest, is one of construction and intention to be gathered from the proceedings and other circumstances of the case.

(4) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions in determining the question, the following facts are material :—

(a) The nature of the contract, if any.
(b) The character of the debt.
(c) The capacity in which the defendant is sued.
(d) The intention of the Court.
(e) The price paid by the purchaser.
(f) And any fact which shows what interest he intended to purchase.

Illustration.

A decree is passed against the father A, for sale of his interest in mauza B, which is his family property C objects to the sale of anything beyond A's interest therein on the ground that the decree was obtained for A's immoral debt He fails to prove it The sale conveys the entirety of B

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Bill is intended to restore the current of decisions relating to the coparcener's liability for debts contracted and transfers made by the manager of a Mitakshara joint family, and the father who occupied a position of greater strength before the decision of the Privy Council in Sahu Ram's case (39 A. 437 P. C.). The case has given rise to a crop of cases upon which there is already a sharp conflict between the several High Courts. In two Full Bench cases the Madras and the Patna High Courts have held the case to leave undisturbed the pre-existing law [43 M. 711 ; F. B. (1921) Pat. 245 F. B.] ; but this view has not found favour with the other Courts (41 A. 235 ; 529 ; 52 I. C. Oudh case 449 ; 22 Oudh case 25 ; 84 ; 23 Oudh case 204 , 264 ; 327 ; 6 Oudh L. J. 297 ; 331 ; 48 I. C. Nagpur case 193). Advantage has been taken of the present Bill to define not only the liability of the coparcener and the son but the extent of their rights in the coparcenary estate.

It is hoped that the measure if passed into law will not only quell the doubts which the Courts have felt on the position of coparceners but assist in the administration of Hindu Law, in which others dealing with members of a joint family feel equally concerned, and who have a right to expect from the Legislature a clear enunciation of their rights and liabilities which cannot be left to the chance of litigation.

The notes on clauses hereto appended explain and justify them on the strength of cases noted thereon.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—'Debt' has nowhere been defined in the Hindu Law. The question whether it includes a pecuniary liability arising from a breach of civil duty has been answered in the affirmative by the Calcutta High Court (24 C. 672 ; 39 C. 862).

'Antecedent debt.'—This definition accords with the cases decided before Surit Ram's case (39 A. 377 P. C.) and is in accordance with the decisions of the Full Bench in 43 M. 711 ; 1921 Pat. 245.

It overrules Sahu Ram V. Bhup Singh (39 A. 377 P. C.) so far as it is understood to lay down the contrary and the cases which so understand it.

Clause 3.—This is in accordance with the following cases :—

6 M. I. A. 393 ; 40 M. 709 P. C. The position of the father as such is independent his status as manager, see 13 C. 21 ; 40 C. 342 ; 33 B. 264 ; 42 M. 711.

Clause 4.—This is the effect of 8 B. 220, 309, 33B. 264 ; 40 C. 342. The son's pious obligation arises independently of the father's death—22 M. 49 F. B. which is in accordance with Hindu Law. The contrary laid down by the Privy Council in 39 A. 377 is here overruled.

Clauses 5—9.—These are copied from my Hindu Code (ss. 123—127), where numerous authorities will be found cited in support of them.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR SEPTEMBER 1922.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—The harvesting of autumn paddy was completed. Cutting and steeping of jute was still continuing. Transplantation of winter paddy was completed ; weeding was well advanced. Field operations for spring crops were proceeding.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of winter rice crop was excellent except in the flooded tracts, and that of sugarcane was fair.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The outlook of the transplanted winter paddy was reported to be highly promising outside the flooded areas. The provincial outturn of autumn paddy has been estimated at about 76 per cent. of the normal.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Considerable damage was done to the standing crops over some areas by abnormally heavy rainfall in the Rajshahi and in parts of the Presidency Divisions.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of live-stock was reported to be generally satisfactory except in the flooded tracts where loss of cattle is reported. Stray cases of cattle-disease were also reported from parts of Nadia, Murshidabad, Burdwan, Midnapore, Hooghly, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Chittagong, Cooch Behar and Tripura States.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—Fodder and water were reported to be sufficient except in the flooded areas where scarcity of fodder was felt.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second half of the month under review the price of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in eight districts, fell in seven, and remained stationary in the rest of the province. It ranged from 6 seers 2 chittacks per rupee at Bakarganj to 8 seers 8 chittacks at Khulna.

IX. Condition of agricultural people.—The condition of agricultural population was reported to be fair except in the flooded areas.

RESOLUTION.

PORTS AND LIGHTING.

Simla, the 19th October 1922.

No. 5479.—The Bengal Chamber of Commerce has suggested to the Government of India that pilotage on the Hooghly might now be entrusted to a body of men less highly qualified, and consequently less costly, than the present Bengal Pilot Service, and that the administration might be handed over to the Port Commissioners, Calcutta. In view of the highly technical nature of the question, the Government of India have, in consultation with the Government of Bengal, decided to appoint a Committee, representative of official and non-official interests, to investigate the whole question of the re-organisation of the Bengal Pilot Service. The Committee will consist of the following gentlemen :—

Chairman.

F. C. French, Esquire, C.S.I., I.C.S., Member, Board of Revenue, Bengal.

Members.

The Chairman, Calcutta Port Commissioners.
Captain A. E. Harold, D.S.O., R.I.M., Port Officer, Calcutta.
S. J. K. Chase, Esquire, Branch Pilot, Representative of the Bengal Pilot Service.
J. H. Fyfe, Esquire, Representative of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.
A. McD. Eddis, Esquire, Representative of the Calcutta Liners Conference.
Babu Jadu Nath Roy, Representative of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce
H. Barton, Esquire, M.L.C., Representative of the Anglo-Indian and Domiciled European Association.
Rai Upendra Lal Ray Bahadur, B.L., M.L.C.

Secretary.

G. H. W. Davies, Esquire, I.C.S., Deputy Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Marine Department.

The Committee will sit at Calcutta as soon as possible and submit its report through the Government of Bengal. The terms of reference to the Committee are :—

(a) Whether the Bengal Pilot Service should be reorganised and placed under the control of the Port Commissioners, Calcutta, and, if so, what scheme of re-organisation should be adopted and how it should be carried out.

(b) If a re-organisation be advised what measures should be adopted to protect the existing members of the Bengal Pilot Service who are serving under covenants with His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

(c) Whether any modifications are required in the existing rules for recruitment to the Bengal Pilot Service including the rules relating to the qualifications of candidates, with special reference to the recruitment of Anglo-Indians and Indians.

(d) The training to be given to the probationary members of the Service to qualify them for taking charge of ships in the Hooghly.

(e) Whether any practical measures can be suggested for enabling Anglo-Indians and Indians to acquire the preliminary qualifications necessary for admission to the Bengal Pilot Service.

ORDER :—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of Bengal, to the Finance Department, to the Auditor, Government of India Sanctions, and to the Chairman and Members of the Committee.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

RESOLUTION.

PAY, ALLOWANCES AND FINANCE OFFICERS.

Simla, the 23rd August 1922.

SUBJECT:—Indian Audit and Accounts Service Examination Rule.

No. 1725-F.E.—In supersession of the Resolution in this Department, No 1251-F.E., dated the 30th September 1914, as subsequently amended, the following revised rules, which will come into force from the 1st January 1923, are prescribed for the examination of candidates in India for admission to the Indian Audit and Accounts Service.

I. A register of candidates will be kept from which not less than three candidates for each vacancy will be nominated by the Government of India from time to time as vacancies are expected. Only candidates so nominated will be entitled to compete.

II. Applications for entry in the register must be forwarded through the local Government of the province in which the candidate resides. A candidate desirous of having his name entered should pay a fee of Rs. 5 into a Government Treasury and enclose the treasury receipt with his application. Names will ordinarily be entered in the register only on the recommendation of a local Government; and the fee paid by a candidate will not be refunded in any case even if the local Government do not recommend him or the Government of India decide not to enter his name in the register.

III. On or before the 1st of May in each year local Governments will send to the Government of India the names of any persons whom they desire to recommend for entry in the register. The list should be accompanied by a statement containing in respect of each such person—

(1) the application which should be in the candidate's own handwriting.
(2) A duly verified statement of age.
(3) Copies of certificates of character and education.
(4) A statement, duly supported, showing the mathematical reading which the candidate has done, and the examinations involving mathematics which he has passed.

(6) A statement of the two optional subjects in which he will, if nominated, offer himself for examination.

A candidate will not be allowed to change the optional subjects in which he wishes to appear in the examination for any year, after the date and conditions of the examination have been published in the Gazette of India as laid down in Rule XII below.

Before being recommended by a local Government, each applicant must give satisfactory proof that he is a native of India, within the meaning of the Statute 33 Vict., Cap. 3, section 6*.

* The words "Native of India" shall include any person born and domiciled within the dominions of His Majesty in India, of parents habitually resident in India and not established there for temporary purposes only

NOTE.—Subjects of Indian States are eligible for registration under rule II

IV. The names of persons not possessed of high educational qualifications will not be registered. Clear and distinct handwriting, a business familiarity with the English language, a good knowledge of arithmetic and an elementary knowledge of algebra are indispensable.

V. The Government of India reserve an absolute discretion, not only in regard to the selection of persons to be entered on the register of candidates, but also as to the nomination of candidates to compete at the examination It must be clearly understood that registration of a candidate's name does not, in any way, imply that he will be nominated for admission to the examination.

VI. The name of a registered candidate will be struck off the register when he has failed in two examinations. It will also be liable to be struck off if he has been twice nominated and has failed to appear at the examination on one or both occasions.

VII. A candidate nominated for admission to one examination will not be admitted to a later examination unless again nominated.

VIII. The age of a candidate, on the first day of August of the year in which the examination is held, must not be less than twenty-two or more than twenty-five years. A candidate, who has been continuously in Government employ since before the age of 25, may, however, at the discretion of the Government of India, be allowed to compete at the examination up to the age of 30, provided that he is satisfactorily recommended by the Head of his Department.

IX. A nominated candidate will be required to pay a fee of Rs. 50 for each nomination. Before a prescribed date prior to the examination, he should forward to the Government of India in the Finance Department the following :—

(a) A treasury receipt for the amount of the fee paid into a Government treasury.

Certificate.

I do hereby certify that I have examined A. B., a candidate for employment in the Indian Audit and Accounts Service, and that I cannot discover that he has any disease, constitutional, affectional or bodily infirmity, unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the public service in any part of India.

(c) A certificate of age from the officer in charge of the district in which his family resides or, if it resides in a Presidency town or an Indian State, from the Presidency Magistrate or the Political Agent, as the case may be. To obtain this certificate the date and place of the candidate's birth must be proved before the district officer, Presidency Magistrate or Political Agent, as the case may be, by documentary evidence, supplemented, where this is not conclusive proof, by statements of relatives and others on oath or solemn affirmation.

X. Nominated candidates will be examined in the subjects described in the schedule attached to this Resolution. No candidate will be admitted to the Service who fails to show a competent knowledge of the compulsory subjects, and the Government reserve the right of declining to make any appointment when no candidate reaches a high standard of proficiency.

XI. The examination will be mainly by written questions and answers. The questions will be prepared, and the examination conducted, in such manner as the Governor General in Council from time to time directs.

XII. Some time before an examination is to be held, its date and place, and the conditions of examination, will be notified in the Gazette of India, and the number of vacancies which the Government expect to fill on the results of the examination will, at the same time, be stated.

[Vide letter No. 394 D B., dated the 4th July 1922, from J. T. Donovan, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman, District Board, Darjeeling, to the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division.]

1. Working of the Committee.—

(a) District Road Committee.—There were 18 members of the Committee, 6 official and 12 non-official. Ten meetings were held during the year under report, the average attendance being 11·1 or 61·6 per cent. at a meeting.

(b) Kurseong Branch Road Committee.—The total number of members of this Committee was 9, 2 official and 7 non-official. Four meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 4 or 44·4 per cent. at a meeting.

(c). Terai Branch Road Committee.—There were 16 members of this Committee, 3 official and 13 non-official. Four meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 8·75 or 54·68 per cent. at a meeting.

2. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 74,121-15 and an outstanding advance of Rs. 5,000-13-1 making a total of Rs. 79,122-12-11 This amount together with receipts of Rs. 96,040-5-7 or a total amount of Rs. 1,75,163-2-6 was available for expenditure during the year under report. The actual expenditure during the year under report was Rs. 1,00,714-15-5 excluding the unadjusted adavnce of Rs. 3,722-9-8. The actual cash balance on the 31st March 1922 was Rs. 70,725-9-5. The closing balance of Rs. 74,448-3-1 including the unadjusted advance of Rs. 3,722-9-8 exceeds one quarter's kist of the annual receipts. Portion of this unadjusted sum was expended, but no accounts being received within the year under report, it could not be adjusted The closing balance has been transferred to the new District Board.

Receipts.

3. Provincial Rates.—The road cess was levied in the district during the year 1921-22 by the Committee at the maximum rate of six pies in the rupee. Rs. 60,237-3-7 was collected under the head "Cess on lands" during the year 1921-22 against Rs. 60,856-9-6 in the previous year. The decrease of Rs. 619 is mainly due to the fact that contribution towards the proportionate cost of Cess Deputy Collector's pay, etc., was recovered direct from the cess collections.

4. Miscellaneous.—A sum of Rs. 1-15 was received under this head on account of refund of the excess payment made to one of the employés during the year under report.

5. Contribution.—

(a) Grant from Government.—A sum of Rs. 10,941-3 was received from Government including Rs. 9,299 on account of augmentation of resources of the Committee against Rs. 8,936-10-7 in the previous year. The increase is due to the fact that arrear amounts on account of 1½ per cent. collections from Government estates were credited during the year under report.

(b) Contribution from Darjeeling Improvement Fund.—A contribution of Rs. 24,860 was received under this head towards communications and its share of the cost of the joint cess and tauzi establishment and for Darjeeling Improvement Fund, against Rs. 23,879 in the previous year. The increase is due to the increased expenditure incurred by the appointment of a District Engineer and his subordinates at the joint cost of the Road Fund and Darjeeling Improvement Fund.

THE GOONDAS BILL, 1922.

BILL

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the control of certain goondas within the town and suburbs of Calcutta and to provide for their removal from Bengal in certain circumstances ; and that such person or that such gang or body is committing or has committed or is about to commit—

(i) a non-bailable offence, or

(ii) the offence of criminal intimidation, or

(iii) an offence involving a breach of the peace,

so as to cause, or to be likely to cause, danger or alarm to the inhabitants or to any section of the inhabitants of the town of Calcutta, the Commissioner of Police shall make a report to the Local Government who, after such further inquiry as they may deem necessary, and after giving such person an opportunity of showing cause why an order under this sub-section should not be made, may, if satisfied that such person is liable to be dealt with under the provisions of this sub-section, direct him to leave the Presidency of Bengal within such time, by such route or routes, and for such period as may be stated in the order ; and the order of the Local Government shall be final.

(3) When any person against whom an order has been passed under sub-section (1) fails to comply with such order within the time specified therein, or after complying with the said order, returns to any place within the Presidency of Bengal before the expiry of the period stated therein, he may be arrested without a warrant by a police-officer and shall be liable, on conviction before a Presidency Magistrate, or a Magistrate of the first class, to rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year.

(4) Any person who fails to comply with, or attempts to evade, any direction given in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2), shall be liable to be arrested without a warrant and shall, on conviction before a Presidency Magistrate, or a Magistrate of the first class, be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to both.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Representations have from time to time been made to Government with reference to the presence in Calcutta, particularly in the Burrabazar area, of a large number of goondas or hooligans ready at all times to take advantage of opportunities for violent crime, and Government have been frequently urged to take drastic measures to deal with the evil. These goondas are mainly up-country men who have either been brought to Calcutta for employment as darwans or lathials, or have been attracted by reports of the ease with which money can be made in Calcutta by violence or the threat of violence. The Marwaris, on the allegation that police protection is insufficient, maintain numbers of the class of men from which the goondas come, and thus make it still more difficult for the police to deal with the evil. Contributory causes are the custom of allowing large sums of money to be carried openly in the streets by darwans of whom practically little is known, the existence of gambling and cocaine dens which give employment to goondas as spies, etc.

2. Early in 1914, the increase in crime in the Burrabazar area led to representations from the Marwari community regarding the inadequacy of police protection, and the outbreak of war later on in the year intensified the feeling of insecurity. Special police patrols drafted into the area succeeded in reassuring the population for the time being. A recrudescence of crime in 1920 caused considerable uneasiness, especially among the Marwari inhabitants, and strong representations were again made to Government. Special police preventive measures were again taken, the results of which appear to have been temporarily successful, but there was a strong feeling that no action which would not break up the gangs completely could be more than a palliative.

3. The only power that the police now have for dealing with the evil is by raiding cocaine and gambling dens and proceeding against individuals under the preventive sections of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Both these courses are full of difficulties; the congested nature of the area, the number of spies engaged by the proprietors and their wealth make a successful raid a rare occurrence, and the production of evidence to prove the case in court a most difficult problem; while the terrorism inspired by the gangs and individuals renders it almost impracticable to get residents to come forward to give public evidence in court, without which the preventive powers of the courts cannot be put into effect.

4. It has been strongly represented that the only real and proper remedy is the exclusion of these criminal and violent elements from the province. A consideration of such forms of procedure as seemed possible led to the conclusion that the only means likely to prove effective would be a provision of law to the effect that when the Governor in Council was satisfied from a report by the Commissioner of Police that any person, other than a person born in Bengal, was so desperate or dangerous as to render his presence hazardous to the peace and order of the town he might pass an order excluding such person from the Presidency, disobedience of the order being punishable with imprisonment.

5. The effect of an Act by which men of this type could be deported from the province would be far-reaching. It would reduce the rowdy element which plays a conspicuous part on the occasions of riots in Calcutta and would at the same time reduce crime to a marked degree. As already stated, many criminals are up-country men and their removal from Calcutta would be most beneficial to the community.

New section substituted for section 73.

7. For section 73 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"73. Subject to the provisions of section 72A, no sum exceeding twenty thousand rupees shall, except in cases of pressing emergency, be expended by, or on behalf of, the Commissioners unless such sum is included in an estimate at the time in force which has been finally approved by the Local Government." Adherence to estimate

Amendment of section 74.

8. In section 74 of the said Act, for the words "five thousand rupees" the words "twenty thousand rupees" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Port Commissioners, Calcutta, have no authority under the existing Act to set aside any sum of money out of their revenue surplus as a reserve fund or funds for replacement and for providing against loss, accident or other emergencies, although in actual practice such funds are already in existence. One of the objects of the present Bill is to provide a statutory basis for these funds as well as for their investment by, and in the name of, the Commissioners. It is also proposed to empower the Commissioners to reserve and set apart any debentures or securities to be issued by them on account of any loan; and to lay down that the issue of any such debentures or securities direct to the Commissioners shall not operate to extinguish or cancel such debentures or securities, the same principle being also applicable to the transfer, assignment or endorsement of any such debentures or securities to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund or to the Commissioners themselves as well as to the purchase of these debentures or securities by the Commissioners.

In the next place, it is intended to authorise the Commissioners to establish a provident fund for their officers and servants. Under the existing Act a provident fund can be established only by their officers and servants. The Commissioners propose to substitute for the existing pensionary system a contributory provident fund combined with bonuses based on length of service. Special provision has been made for payments from the fund to the widows or dependent children of officers and servants who die while in the service of the Commissioners. Measures have also been taken to extend the benefits of the provident fund combined with the system of bonuses based on length of service to the workshop employés of the Commissioners.

It is also the intention of the Bill to give the Commissioners larger powers than are conferred by the present Act, to incur expenditure in certain circumstances, in addition to the sums covered by the sanctioned estimate for any year. Past experience shows that the Commissioners find it difficult in practice strictly to adhere to the sanctioned estimate, owing to the inevitable fluctuations in the trade of the Port, which cannot be accurately foreseen or provided for.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 23rd September, 1922 :—

No. 31 of 1922.

BILL

to amend sections 362 and 366 of the Indian Penal Code.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend sections 362 and 366 of the Indian Penal Code ; It is hereby enacted as follows :— XLV of 1860.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Amendment of section 362, Act XLV of 1860

2. In section 362 of the Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), after the words " or by " the words " intimidation, abuse of authority or " shall be inserted. XLV of 1860

Amendment of section 366, Act XLV of 1860.

3. (1) In section 366 of the said Code, for the words " with intent that she " the following words shall be substituted, namely : —

" or by any means whatsoever induces any minor girl under the age of sixteen years to go from any place or do any act with intent that such woman or girl ".

(2) To the same section the following paragraph shall be added, namely : —

" A person shall be deemed to have committed an offence under this section who brings into British India any woman or girl in respect of whom he has out of British India committed, or abetted the commission of, any act which if committed in British India would be such an offence."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Articles 1, 2 and 3 of the International Convention for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic which was signed at Paris on the 4th May 1910, run as follows :—

Article 1.

"Whoever, in order to gratify the passions of another person, has procured, enticed, or led away, even with her consent, a woman or girl under age, for immoral purposes, shall be punished, notwithstanding that the various acts constituting the offence may have been committed in different countries."

Article 2.

"Whoever, in order to gratify the passions of another person, has, by fraud, or by means of violence, threats, abuse of authority, or any other method of compulsion, procured, enticed, or led away a woman or girl over age for immoral purposes, shall also be punished, notwithstanding that the various acts constituting the offence may have been committed in different countries."

Article 3.

"The Contracting parties whose legislation may not at present be sufficient to deal with the offences contemplated by the two preceding articles engage to take or to propose to their respective Legislatures the necessary steps to punish these offences according to their gravity."

The principles in this International Convention were endorsed in the International Convention regarding the Traffic in Women and Children which was adopted by the Second Assembly of the League of Nations. In Article 1 of this Convention it is provided that the High Contracting Parties in the event of their not being already parties to the International Convention of the 4th May 1910 shall transmit with the least possible delay their ratifications of, or adhesions to, that instrument in the manner laid down therein. Further the term "under age" which did mean under 20 completed years of age according to paragraph B of the Final Protocol of the Convention of 1910 is now interpreted as meaning under 21 completed years of age by virtue of the provisions of Article 5 of the International Convention, adopted by the Second Assembly of the League of Nations.

In view of the Resolutions adopted by the Council of State on the 31st January 1922 and by the Legislative Assembly on the 7th February 1922, the International Convention adopted by the Second Assembly of the League of Nations was signed at Geneva on behalf of the Government of India by His Majesty's Minister at Berne on the 28th March 1922, with the following reservation :

"India reserves the right of its discretion to substitute the age of 16 years or any greater age that may be subsequently decided upon for the age limits prescribed in paragraph B of the Final Protocol of the Convention of May 4th, 1910, and in Article 5 of the present Convention."

Further, on the 26th March 1922, India's accession, subject to a similar reservation, to the White Slave Traffic Convention of 1910 was notified to the French Government by His Majesty's Ambassador at Paris.

The Bill is intended to give effect to the action taken by the Government of India by extending the provisions of section 366 of the Indian Penal Code, so as to cover the offences described in Articles 1 and 2 of the Convention of 1910 on the understanding that the words "under age" and over age" will be interpreted as meaning under 16 and over 16 years of age respectively.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 20th September 1922 :—

No 29 OF 1922.

BILL

further to amend the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879.

WHEREAS some doubt has been raised whether the word "person" as used in the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, includes a woman, and whereas it is expedient to remove such doubt; It is hereby enacted as follows :— XVIII of 1879

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Legal Practitioners (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Amendment of section 3, Act XVIII of 1879

2. In section 3 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, before the definition of the word "Judge" the following shall be inserted, namely :— XVIII of 1879

"Person" includes a woman.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Legal Practitioners Act provides for the enrolment of "persons" otherwise qualified as Advocates or Vakils The General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), provides that "words importing the masculine gender shall be taken to include females." In this view women are entitled to be enrolled under the Act, and they have been held qualified to be so enrolled by the Allahabad High Court. But the Patna High Court has held women disqualified for enrolment by reason of their sex. (In re Hazara 1 Pat. 104 F B)

In England, the sex bar has now been swept away by Statute, and women are entitled to be enrolled as Barristers, and they will as such be entitled to be enrolled as Advocates in this country It is not apprehended that the term "person" as used in the Legal Practitioners Act was intended to exclude women, and the Bill is drawn to make this clear.

RESOLUTION—No. 559T.—R.

READ—

The Reports on Inland Emigration under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901), for the year ending the 30th June 1922, submitted by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, and the District and Assistant Superintendents of Emigration.

1. The year 1921-22 was an uneventful one in the matter of emigration and there was a further falling off in the number of emigrants despatched to the labour districts.

2. Recruiting operations in Bengal were conducted as usual in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Burdwan and Midnapore and the number of garden sardars employed during the year was 259 as against 248 in the preceding year. All of them worked under the supervision of licensed local agents. The number of local agents' licenses issued was 12 as in the previous year. The total number of emigrants recruited in Bengal was 102 as against 86 in the previous year. The largest number of recruits was from Midnapore, viz., 78. The total number of recruits from Bengal and other provinces embarking at Goalundo was 11,407 as compared with 13,051 in the preceding year. The decrease is attributed partly to the depression in the tea industry and partly to the improved agricultural conditions in the recruiting districts and in some measure to the present political unrest in the country.

3. No criminal case connected with emigration was reported during the year.

4. The rest-house for emigrants at Goalundo maintained by the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association was duly inspected and found to be satisfactory in every way.

5. Arrangements for river transport were satisfactory. Nine deaths, of which one was due to cholera, were reported to have occurred among emigrants at Kharagpur. There was also one death from cholera among the emigrants at Naihati. Of the 11,427 emigrants who arrived at Goalundo, eleven died at the Goalundo Hospital. There was no death during the steamer journey to Chandpur among the 3,054 emigrants who embarked for the Surma Valley districts, and of the 8,353 emigrants who embarked for the Brahmaputra Valley only one died during the voyage.

6. In connection with the transport of labour to Assam receipts amounted to Rs. 2,006 against Rs. 1,751 in the preceding year, while the expenditure fell from Rs. 22,373 to Rs. 19,966-14-4.

7. Lieutenant-Colonel D. St. John Moses, I.M.S., held the office of the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, up to the 15th November 1921, when he was relieved by Lieutenant-Colonel C. A. Gourlay, I.M.S., who returned from leave. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to him and to Lieutenant-Colonel Gourlay and also to the local officers for their assistance in the administration of the Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

M. C. McALPIN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

DARJEELING, THE 26TH OCTOBER 1922.

READ—

Letter No. 1342, dated the 16th October 1922, from the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta, submitting the proceedings of the enquiry held by him in connection with the outbreak at the Presidency Jail on the 1st October 1922, together with his report thereon.

A MAGISTERIAL enquiry has been held by the Chief Presidency Magistrate, under the orders of Government into the disturbance which occurred in the Presidency Jail on the morning of the 1st October, and his report on it is now published for general information. The report succinctly describes the causes and incidents of the disturbance, and it is unnecessary to repeat them.

The Governor in Council has no hesitation in accepting the conclusions in the report. He is particularly concerned at the want of discipline amongst the warders which led to their firing without orders; the necessary action is being taken departmentally to deal with this and other points raised in the report. His Excellency in Council is pleased to record his thanks to Dr. Young, the Superintendent of the Jail, for his efficient management of the situation, to the police, in particular Mr. Wilson, Deputy Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for their help in restoring order, and to Mr. Keays for his report.

By order of the Governor in Council,

M. C. McALPIN,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE ENQUIRY INTO THE OUTBREAK AT THE PRESIDENCY JAIL OCCURRING ON THE 1st OCTOBER 1922.

UNDER Government instructions conveyed to me by the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, in his office memorandum No. 6107—G555-22, dated the 2nd October 1922, the above enquiry was held at the Presidency Jail, Alipore.

Before actually starting the enquiry on the morning of the 9th October, I inspected the different portions of the Jail, specially the mills and workshop, where the disturbance had originally started.

In the course of my enquiry I have examined altogether 46 witnesses. Of these 27 are prisoners (including convict-overseers, under-trials, etc.), 16 belonging to the Jail staff (consisting of the Superintendent, Deputy Superintendent, assistant jailors, havildar, warders, sepoys and two jail doctors), and Messrs. Colson and Wilson, the Superintendent of the 24-Parganas Police, and the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, respectively. I have also examined the two injured persons at the Sambhu Nath Pandit Hospital and the doctor who gave them the first aid there, and concluded the enquiry on the 14th October 1922.

Before dealing with the incidents of the actual outbreak, I think it necessary to briefly refer to the position of affairs at the Presidency Jail when the new Superintendent, Dr. Young, took over charge on the 26th September last. In his evidence he said, "I found the morale of the staff of a very low order and the convicts most rebellious and discipline practically nil." Since the outbreak he has had portions of the workshop dug up and has found there lethal weapons and a very large quantity of contraband hidden in various places. Two of the lethal weapons are roughly made, and though they may have been smuggled into the Jail it is quite possible they may have been manufactured in the jail. One was a kind of rough chopper over two feet long. It is very difficult to imagine that so bulky an article could have been smuggled into the Jail. If it was manufactured in the Jail, it could only have been made with the connivance and knowledge of some of the Jail staff. Two of the mutineers were seen armed with swords, and these have not been found up to the present. There is still a great deal of spadework to be done, and no doubt a great many more things will be unearthed.

Upshon, the Jailor, was on leave in April when the first outbreak occurred. He returned from leave on the 1st of August. He says, on his return he found the warders in a great state of nervousness and obviously afraid of the prisoners, and that the attitude and demeanour of the prisoners had entirely changed from that in December 1921. He says their attitude in March 1922 was bad, and worse when he returned in August.

Dr. Young at once determined to try and bring the Jail into order. In pursuance of that object he found it necessary to inflict a large number of punishments for various jail offences. Between the 26th September and 1st October he punished 31 convicts—5 with "fetters" and a number with the punishment of wearing gunny-clothing. These forms of punishment are specially disliked by the convicts. In the previous 12 months there had been only 6 cases of "fetters" punishment. The convicts quickly realized that the era of warders turning a blind eye to the breaking of Jail regulations was likely to come to an end. I have no doubt that it was decided to try and get rid of the new Superintendent. That there are ring-leaders among the convicts there can be no question, but though they must be perfectly well known to some of the warders it has not up to the present been possible to find out their names. The warders are undoubtedly afraid of reprisals in case they gave them away. I passed through the Jail on several occasions while holding the enquiry, and the Jail appears to be now thoroughly orderly and quiet, and when the Jail staff have regained their confidence, the names of the men responsible for the trouble will, it is hoped, transpire. The convict named Abdul Rahaman (who is known throughout the Jail by the nickname of Good-Began) is considered by Dr. Young as one of the ring-leaders. This man is now serving his eighth term of imprisonment. From the look of him one could not imagine him leading any one, but that he is a person of importance amongst the convicts there can be no question. This man from the commencement appears to have been a constant cause of annoyance to Dr. Young. He was continually complaining, and on the 30th he developed a fresh complaint—pain in his legs. Dr. Young considered him to be a malingerer, and his opinion was shared by the Sub-Assistant Surgeon. Dr. Young in order to see whether his suspicions were correct, ordered him to be put in a pair of Macintyre Splints. If he were really in pain the pain would be eased. If he were malingering the pain would "cease." Macintyre Splints are adjustable iron splints and were well padded. There is not the slightest truth that the wearing of these splints caused suffering or were a form of torture. As a matter of fact Abdul Rahaman only wore these splints for a very few hours, as a sympathetic convict-dresser removed them on the night of the 30th as soon as the doctor in charge of the hospital had gone. This removal was of course entirely unauthorized. Abdul Rahaman strongly disapproved of being put into splints and proceeded to shout and dash himself about on the iron-cot. He declined to be pacified, and the hospital doctor, to prevent him from possibly injuring himself, had his hands put in handcuffs and tied to the cot. It is alleged that weights were attached to his legs in addition. These alleged weights vary from all sizes—from two half-bricks to weights of half a maund each. I examined three other patients who were in the hospital with Abdul Rahaman, and they know nothing of the alleged weights. The doctor at the hospital denies the fact, and no one speaks of them whose evidence is entitled to belief. I have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the story of the weights is an entire invention and that the weights that were eventually found with Abdul Rahaman were placed on his legs by some of the convicts for the purpose of supporting the story of torture. The 1st of October was a Sunday, and the prisoners were taken out at 5-30 A.M. for their morning meal. They are given their meals in large batches in various places in the Jail compound. The supervision of the Jail staff on these occasions is most meagre and inadequate. On Sundays the convicts have no work, but half of them are weighed after the morning meal. About 7 A.M. a rumour was spread amongst the convicts in the feeding yard adjoining the old jute mill that a prisoner was being tortured in the hospital. One of the convicts that I examined stated that two convict-warders were responsible for the rumour, but I could obtain no corroboration of this story. A proposal was then made to rescue the prisoner from hospital. The head warder, Babu Nandan Sing, who was in charge of these convicts, sent information to the Jailor, and he at once came after giving directions that the Superintendent should be sent for. On arrival he found that matters were serious. He succeeded in getting back about 30 cell-prisoners to their cells, but then found matters had become worse and he retired closing the gate at what is known as the "Dacoity Fence" and which divides the southern from the northern portion of the Jail. On his return he ordered the alarm bell to be rung and stationed warders on the verandah at the entrance and some round the walls. In the meantime two parties of convicts had approached the hospital—one from the direction of the old jute mill and one from the direction of the workshop. From this I deduce that there had been some concerted plan to circulate the rumour about Abdul Rahaman's treatment. Ashraf Khan, a head warder, says he made some attempt to stop them but without avail. The convicts entered the hospital with shouts of "Kill the Doctor Babu." Dr. H. C. Chatterjee, who was in the hospital, hid himself in the latrine. The convicts at once removed Abdul Rahaman carrying him away, cot and all, to near the boiler shed of the old jute mill. The convicts then proceeded to arm themselves with various weapons from the jute mills and workshops. A thousand men could arm themselves from these places and with most dangerous weapons, such as iron spindles and steel combs. These jute mills in their present state are a source of great danger and access to them is easy. The windows to them are not even barred. At the time of the rescue of Abdul Rahaman there was another outbreak at a considerable distance from the hospital, when Jamadar Niamat Khan was assaulted and was only rescued by Golam Kader and other convicts. Their courageous action in the face of a very large number of mutinous convicts will no doubt be suitably rewarded.

As soon as the alarm bell was sounded the warders (some of them were at the time of the outbreak in their quarters outside the Jail) came out and proceeded to the armoury to get their ammunition. The guard have cartridge belts containing 5 ball and 5 blank cartridges. In emergencies they take additional cartridges. The havildar opened the boxes of spare ammunition, and the warders took what they thought fit. Some took "blank," some took "ball", and some took none at all. There was no pretence at order or system. On enquiry I elicited that although there is alarm drill once a month, the giving out of reserve ammunition is not considered necessary. Before the Superintendent came telephonic messages had been sent for police assistance from Lal Bazar and the 24-Parganas. The telephones in the Jail were out of order, and the messages were sent from the house of the Deputy Superintendent. As soon as the Superintendent came he took over charge and advanced with the armed guard to the "Dacoity Fence," which is situated about 40 yards from the main entrance. In the yard beyond there was a large body of convicts variously estimated at 300 to 500 in a very excited and turbulent state. Most of them had weapons of various kinds. The Superintendent shouted out to them to go back to their quarters. They showed no signs of obeying, and the Superintendent then said unless they dispersed he would have to fire at them. At this some of the guard fired into the air and into the ground. No orders had been given to fire. The Superintendent tried to stop them, but the guard continued to fire in a desultory fashion for some time. Eventually he managed to get them to desist. So far as could be seen, no casualties occurred at this time. The rioting convicts at once answered the fire with a volley of missiles, but in a very few moments they began to disperse and the yard became empty. Mr. Colson arrived with 8 constables about 7-50 A.M.; when he arrived the convicts had disappeared from the yard. While he was telephoning for assistance from Tollygunge Mr. Wilson arrived. This was at 7-55 A.M.: Mr. Wilson noted the time. He at once took over charge. He ordered the warders on the verandah of the Jail gate house to cease their promiscuous firing and directed about 12 warders to go on the roof of the building overlooking the workshops and jute mills as he noticed a fire in the new jute mill. At the same time he directed Mr. Colson to take his men and see to it. By this time the warders had arrived on the roof and began to fire. Mr. Wilson climbed up on the roof to stop them. Immediately he left they began again, and he then sent up the Jailor with orders that there was to be no more firing until he gave explicit orders. There was no more firing after this. Mr. Wilson then proceeded to the new jute mill. On his way he saw Abdul Rahaman who was lying on his cot with his splints off, but still handcuffed. He says he noticed a brick tied to one of the splints. After visiting the new jute mill and finding the fire had been put out he proceeded to the old jute mill where a large body of the mutinous convicts had taken refuge. He went inside and talked to them. He was amicably received, but on the Superintendent joining him some one hit him with an iron weight, There is very little doubt this missile was intended for the Superintendent. He withdrew to have his head bandaged. Just about this time the police from Lal Bazar arrived and the convicts began to come out of the old jute mill. The exodus continued until the mill was clear, and eventually the prisoners were marched back to their quarters without further trouble. Two of the warders were slightly hurt and two of the convicts were shot in the thigh and one had his left femur fractured and two very slightly wounded. One of the latter was an under-trial prisoner and was a long way from the place of occurrence and was probably hit by a stray buck-shot fired by one of the guards who was outside the Jail walls. These guards fired a number of shots for no reason whatever as there was no instance of any prisoner attempting to escape over the Jail wall. The Superintendent is of opinion that the outbreak was the result of a plot by the convicts. I do not agree with him. Had there been any concerted plot the first thing the convicts would have done would have been to seize the dacoity gate, and the whole Jail, with the exception of the entrance, would have been at the convicts' mercy. I am, however, of opinion that the treatment of Abdul Rahaman was successfully used by the ring-leaders as a means to inflame the other convicts to mutiny.

My investigation was conducted with considerable difficulty. The prisoners who had not been punished would give no information on the principle of " let well alone," and the prisoners who had been punished were ready to give evidence on the principle that " things could'nt be worse and might be improved ". The warders' staff for the main part have not been of much assistance. The whole incident lasted about an hour and a half. The ammunition was checked and it was found that 20 rounds of " blank ", 23 rounds of " buck-shot " and 69 rounds of " ball " had been expended. There was no firing by the police.

EDWARD KEAYS,
Chief Presidency Magistrate (Actg.).

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE LAND REVENUE ADMINISTRATION OF THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1921-22.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Land Revenue.

DARJEELING, THE 24TH OCTOBER 1922.

RESOLUTION—No. 579T.—R.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Land Revenue Administration of the Presidency of Bengal for the year 1921-22.

2. Mr. D. H. Lees held charge of the office of the Member of the Board of Revenue till the 28th July 1921, when he was succeeded by Mr. F. C. French, C.S.I., the permanent incumbent, who held charge for the rest of the year.

3. For a series of years the Board have drawn a gloomy picture of the material condition of the people owing to high prices, floods, cyclones, local distress or bad health and the report of the year under review is not very different from others in this respect. The winter rice crop was affected in the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions and the rabi crops in some parts of the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions by the cessation of the rains in October; the cultivators in the jute growing areas were hard hit by the depression in the jute trade; the continued high prices of almost all the necessaries of life affected the poorer classes, especially those on small fixed incomes; though there was no widespread distress, the distress in a part of Khulna noticed in last year's report continued till December 1921, and finally there was a general slump in trade. There is, however, a bright side to this picture, for the winter rice crop of 1921-22 surpassed in quantity the fine crop of 1917-18, the question of high prices ceased to attract the attention it had done, indicating that the process of general adjustment of wages to prices was being accomplished, and, though the year was a bad year for cholera, there was some improvement in the health of the province.

4. Of the detailed statistics in the report, it is necessary to say little. There was an increase of nearly two lakhs in the current demand for revenue and collections were good. The process of colonisation in the Sundarbans proceeded on the prescribed lines.

5. Probably the most notable statement in the report is that non-co-operation has had little effect on collections in Government estates. Two of the best districts, the Board report, in this respect were Birbhum and Bakarganj in which non-co-operation was undoubtedly prominent and they were closely followed by Malda, Midnapore and Noakhali, whereas the worst collection of all was made in Mymensingh which suffered little from this cause. On the other hand, the movement made it difficult in some cases for the landlords to recover their legitimate rents and more often to realise such illegitimate charges as abwabs; the movement seems to have given the tenants an incentive to assert their rights. Owing to the same cause, there was a falling off in the number of schools and pupils in Government estates.

6. The impression which was becoming stereotyped that the patriarchal piece of legislation—The Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act of 1918—which imposed restrictions on the alienation of lands by aborigines, had been passed too late to be of much practical value, has now been removed. It is now reported that there is a general consensus of opinion that the Act has been successful in its objects and is exercising a wholesome restraint on the aboriginal tribes from falling into the power of unscrupulous money-lenders and that it is highly appreciated by the Santhals for whose benefit it was primarily intended.

7. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the Board of Revenue for the efficient administration of the Land Revenue Department.

By order of the Governor in Council,

M. C. McALPIN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

FOREIGN TRADE.

Simla, the 3rd October 1922.

RESOLUTION.

The following papers are published for general information :—

(1) Letter from the Secretary to the High Commissioner for India in the United Kingdom, No. H.C.-5007—92-4-11, dated the 28th August 1922.

I am desired by the High Commissioner to forward Mr. Chadwick's Administration Report as Indian Trade Commissioner for 1921-22 and to add the following remarks.

2. The constitution of the Indian Trade Commissionership was originally an experiment, and, as some people thought, a rather venturesome one. But thanks to Mr. Chadwick's knowledge, zeal, tact and constant industry, it has become an assured success, and the High Commissioner thinks that the building up of this admirable agency is an achievement on which Mr. Chadwick can most deservedly pride himself.

3. As Mr. Chadwick has indicated, his department is confined primarily to the development of Indian industries and Indian export trade, and he has given an admirable summary in paragraph 4 of his Report of the lines on which he has carried out this policy. The High Commissioner would add that Mr. Chadwick has never spared himself in giving all information that he could legitimately afford to those who needed it, and has never adopted the attitude of some offices that this or that is not really their concern. He has made the Trade Commissionership a real power in the City, and one which is thoroughly appreciated, as the High Commissioner knows, by those who have dealings with it ; while he has maintained excellent and fruitful relations with other Departments, such as the Department of Overseas Trade, and has furnished a constant flow of valuable information on an immense variety of matters to the Government of India.

The enormous increase in the statistics of calls and verbal enquiries indicated in paragraph 5 of the Report speaks for itself as to the growing appreciation of Mr. Chadwick's office by those whom it was meant to serve.

4. Mr. Chadwick's activities, moreover, have by no means been confined to the regular field of the Trade Commissionership. As he modestly indicates in the latter part of his Report—paragraph 9 et seq—he has had a variety of other work and has done it admirably ; for instance, his activities in connection with the British Industries Fair and the Hides Preference Scheme, in connection with the Empire Cotton Growing Corporation, and the British Empire Exhibition, and the Government of India have, the High Commissioner is assured, fully appreciated the very full information which Mr. Chadwick was able to furnish to them on the subject of Dyes.

5. Mr. Chadwick, in paragraphs 19-20 of his Report, gives special acknowledgment to the services of a number of his subordinates. But while fully appreciating the work of these officers, the High Commissioner considers that the success of the department is due, first and last, to Mr. Chadwick himself. Future Trade Commissioners will be very materially helped by the strong and sure foundations which Mr. Chadwick has laid.

(2) Administration Report on the working of the office of the Indian Trade Commissioner in London for the period from April 1st, 1920 to March 31st, 1922.

In their Resolution No. 7123, dated the 15th October 1920, the Government of India, Commerce Department, dealt with an administration report covering the first two years of the working of the office of the Indian Trade Commissioner. I have now the honour to submit a report on the work of that office during the last half of my incumbency, viz., for the two years from April 1st, 1920 to March 31st, 1922. I vacated the office of Trade Commissioner three months later on June 30th, 1922. Those three months will be dealt with by one of my successors.

2. This is strictly an administration report and makes no attempt to discuss Indian trade with the United Kingdom during those two years. It has appeared from time to time that some uncertainty still exists regarding the purpose of this office. It exists to endeavour to assist the development of Indian industries and of Indian export trade. There are two large spheres of activity connected with commerce with which it has no concern whatever—

(a) The policy of the Government of India in commercial matters.
(b) The import trade into India.

If the office had to take a part in helping to consider these, it would obviously be most seriously hampered as an Intelligence Bureau.

The Department of Overseas Trade, an offshoot of the Board of Trade, is interested in the exports of the United Kingdom to all countries in the world, including India. In fact they maintain their own Trade Commissioner in India. Most other countries also have their Consuls or other representatives in India. It is no part of the functions of the Indian Trade Commissioner's office to assist the import trade into India. Very harmonious relations have continued between my office and that of the Department of Overseas Trade, who have invariably referred to me enquiries regarding the purchase of Indian products, as I have referred to them enquiries regarding the sale of goods to India. This Department has, however, always assisted me with advice and information on any point, and as will be seen later has welcomed the participation of Provinces of India in the British Industries Fair.

3. There are four distinct limitations to the activities the office may attempt : –

(a) It cannot do any man's business for him;

(b) It can undertake no financial responsibilities.

(c) It is not an employment bureau to examine men's qualifications and engage them.

(d) It will not advise people about their investments or solicit capital for new projects.

It can often help with information bearing on these points, but it cannot undertake them.

4. Subject to these restrictions the office can be and is of use to the business world. It aims at—

(i) Having indexed, and immediately available, all economic information published by the various departments of the Government of India, as well as all published statistics and legislative enactments relating to Indian Trade.

(ii) Having indexed and immediately available the names of firms exporting Indian produce from India as well as those importing Indian produce into the United Kingdom and other countries.

(iii) Assisting with introductions Indian industrialists and merchants who visit London on business.

(iv) Giving information to firms contemplating manufacture in India as to the possibility of obtaining in India much of their requirements.

(v) Sending to India information about new processes likely to be of interest to India.

(vi) Obtaining on request and sending to India trade opinions on samples sent from India.

(vii) Bringing to the notice of the Departments of the British Government any regulations which in operation bear adversely on Indian trade, provided no question of policy is involved.

(viii) Conducting enquiries on behalf of or answering questions raised by economic departments in India including Provincial Departments of Industries.

(ix) Generally at helping any business house connected with India in any difficulty or in any way in which it can do so fairly and legitimately.

There is a wide field here, in which the office can help Indian trade and development, and in everyone of the classes cited business men have repeatedly stated that they have found the office of assistance. But, except in the small matter of Hides Preference, there is no need for any business man to come to the office at all. It issues no licenses ; it tries no cases ; it collects no revenue. It is as dependent for its daily occupation on its customers—i.e., in this case the general business world—as is any retail shop. So far it has not suffered from unemployment or lack of custom. But just as with a retail shop it can only increase or even retain its custom —and thereby endeavour to fulfil its objects—by giving satisfaction to its customers. If the information it supplies is correct and promptly given, if the introductions it makes are obviously seriously meant and prove worth examination, the tendency is to use it more and more ; if it fails in these particulars then its utility rapidly decreases and any introductions it gives may be promptly discounted or ignored. Thus when men call and ask for business introductions in certain lines, it greatly assists matters if they are not already known, if they come prepared to give in confidence information about their own business experience in that line and their financial standing. Questions directed to that end are made in confidence and not from curiosity but for the purpose of assisting the enquirer, and because, although no financial responsibility is taken by the office, yet the reputation of the office is involved to some extent in every introduction it makes. It thus saves time, if those from India who visit the office for the first time and are not known to it bring with them from India some introduction from India. The office works very closely in all matters of introductions with the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence in Calcutta.

5. The number of letters received in the office and the number of callers in each of the last four years is as follows :—

	Letters received.	Letters despatched.	Number of Callers or Verbal enquiries.
1918-19	3,734	4,930	1,367
1919-20	7,066	10,206	1,005*
1920-21	7,966	7,800	2,134†
1921-22	7,296	7,760	3,921

* Five months only.
† Nine months only

As explained in the last report the figures of 1919-20 sprang up so quickly chiefly on account of the work in connection with securing passages eastwards for commercial men —the autumn of 1919. That figure has, however, been fully maintained, in spite of the severe trade depression throughout 1921. The figures of despatches exclude everything in the nature of a circular. It is impossible to record accurately all callers and telephone calls for information. So much is done over the telephone in London, and the enquiry so quickly turns from one subject to another that many escape noting. For instance, these figures exclude all telephone enquiries answered by the clerical staff itself without putting the enquiry through to one of the senior officers. In India most of such enquiries and answers dealt with by the staff would be the subject of a letter. The figures so far for the current year both in letters and enquiries are in advance of those of last year at the same time. These figures seem to shew that the office is both getting better and better known and is being more and more used.

6. The Director-General of Commercial Intelligence sends us each week a very short and excellent cable of commercial news. To this is attached, in the briefest form, in the office any immediately cognate information and also a list of important economic publications received in the office during the week. The note thus prepared is printed and distributed among banks and business houses. Many have expressed their appreciation of this and many, I know, keep them carefully filed. The weekly circulation at the end of March 1922 had reached 216. One interesting thing was that copies had reached India and requests were received from two widely distant ports in India to post copies regularly to them. This seemed curious as most of the information is originally derived from India. Facts are simply given. Comment and discussion are avoided. We are greatly indebted to the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence, Calcutta, for his succinct summaries.

7. It gradually became clear that there was frequently a very small, but when it existed a very real, demand for many of the small brochures issued by the various departments of Government such as Forests, Geological, Agriculture, etc., dealing with particular economic products, as well as a wider demand on copies of Acts affecting trade. The custom in retail shops of enclosing with letters a cyclostyled list of their most recent specialities ready for sale was adopted in the autumn of 1921. Between December 1921 and March 31st, 1922, 216 of such publications were sold. They are not publications which appeal to the general public, but are frequently of great use to the person who is interested in that particular matter. More can still be done in this matter. Care was also taken to send such publications when received to the particular technical journal, which specialises in that class of subjects. I am not referring here to well known publications, such as the Review of Trade or the Report of some very important Commission.

8. In order to help the Indian exporter the preparation of a series of short compact bulletins on the commercial aspect of the various Indian products was commenced giving, as far as possible, the commercial specifications required for different uses, the prevailing trade terms and conditions, the customary methods of sale, the chief uses, particulars of the chief competitors that Indian produce had to meet. Attention has first been given to the mineral products of India, since on that subject I was fortunate in having the very able assistance of Dr. Coggin Brown, who was later followed by Mr. Fox. Dr. Coggin Brown prepared and sent to India notes dealing with Manganese Ores, Magnesite, Monazite, Antimony, Arsenic, Bismuth, Wolfram, Chromite, Molybdenum, Tin, Bauxite, Borax, Corundum, Garnet, Mica, Zinc, Lead, Asbestos, Barytes, Mineral Colours, and Mr. Fox has done the same with glass-making materials, Gemstones and semi-precious Stones, Sulphur, Flourspar, Phosphates, Potash Salts. These have all been published as special bulletins by the Department of Industries with the Government of India. These should be of use in India. The merits of many of them have been widely recognised on this side and demands for copies of them have come from countries as widely distant as the United States and Roumania. These have all been prepared in the two years now under report and involved much trade enquiry. Dr. Coggin Brown worked at these with much enthusiasm and judgment and Mr. Fox is carrying the work through.

9. Special works.—The two years under review saw a full share of special work falling on the Trade Commissioner and his office. There will, I believe, always be some such special tasks in hand. As one disappears another arises.

The British Industries Fair.—The Arts and Crafts Emporium, Lucknow, and the Arts and Crafts Depot, Lahore, took part in the British Industries Fair at the White City both in 1921 and 1922. Bombay and Assam also participated in that of 1921 and Burma in the one of 1922. Mr. Heard and Mr. Heath, the Arts Officers of the United Provinces and the Punjab, respectively, were present at the 1921 Fair and Mr. Holme, the Director of Industries in Burma, at that in 1922. At the 1922 Fair Mr. French, C.I.E., C.B.E., was in charge of the articles from Northern India. The general trade depression in 1922 was exceptionally severe and consequently the market for luxuries and ornamental furniture, of which Indian art crafts for export largely consist, was very dull. In spite of this the sales and orders at the 1921 Fair amounted to £3,971 or £2,493 more than that at the first venture, and at the 1922 Fair the figure again rose slightly to £4,759. In order to help the Provinces in their early ventures at encouraging an export trade, it was arranged that goods ordered at the Fair could be delivered through the Trade Commissioner's office and that that office would collect the amounts due before delivering the goods and remit the proceeds. It would also deal as far as possible in the first instance with any complaints. A certain amount of agency fees and commission is thus saved to the Provincial departments. This involves a good deal of detailed work throughout the course of the year and is not a class of work which the office could continue indefinitely especially if it increased much in volume. It is, however, satisfactory to record that the deliveries and execution of orders after the Fair in 1921 both by the United Provinces and the Punjab were much better than after the first Fair of 1920. Whether it will be possible by this means to encourage an export trade in the better articles of village craftsmanship, it is at present difficult to say. I would have been more confident if there had been a greater increase in orders in 1922, but against this has to be put the following considerations :—

(i) Trade generally was so bad in 1921-22 that it was really a great thing not to have to record a decline.

(ii) Foreign exchanges were so adverse and uncertain that foreign buyers were especially chary about placing orders.

(iii) It is dishonest to take orders beyond the capacity of the Provincial Department to execute promptly and satisfactorily. So far the United Provinces and the Punjab have met their commitments, but it is so notoriously difficult to organise village craftsmen to ensure prompt attention to orders that one is somewhat afraid of large orders.

(iv) Some most promising connections have been made. These have only been secured by appearing regularly at successive Fairs. The United Provinces have followed a regular policy in this. No results worth having can, I am sure, follow from spasmodic participation in these Fairs. Trade can only be built up on confidence, which in itself grows from continuous and not from occasional transactions.

10. From October 1920 onwards I was Chairman of the Committee of firms appointed by the Government of India to sell wheat on Government account. Till the middle of February 1921 when Government withdrew, 240,281 tons of wheat were sold. The Committee held 35 meetings. Except for a few vessels in regard to which arbitration proceedings are pending the accounts have been closed and audited. Throughout all this work I received the most cordial and open assistance from the firms with whom I was working.

11. During the period under report the securing of dyes on reparation account occupied much time. It proved to be an extremely troublesome and involved class of work, and especially during 1921-22 claimed an undue proportion of my attention. The difficulties, however, which arose were dealt with.

12. The office continued to issue certificates under the Hides Preference Scheme for hides and skins tanned in the United Kingdom. The leather trade was one of the first to feel the effects of the slump in trade and has not yet recovered. At the time of the Armistice stocks both of boots and leather held by the Ministry of Munitions were exceptionally large. It has taken a very long time for them to pass into consumption. In fact the Disposal Board still held on March 31st, 1922, big supplies of tanned kips. The difficulties of the market were further increased by very heavy shipments of hides from India on consignment during the short boom period. It was therefore found necessary to increase the currency of the bonds up to two years normally and for those issued in the first year of the Act up to three years. No further extensions are contemplated. The number of certificates issued in each year were as follows :—

	1920-21.	1921-22.
For hides and skins shipped from—
Calcutta	49	99
Bombay	45	67
Karachi	180	52
Madras	34	28
Rangoon	152	61

The scheme worked smoothly.

13. I continued to serve on the Empire Cotton Growing Committee and its successor the Empire Cotton Growing Corporation the organisation of which was recommended in the report of the Committee. The Corporation has been incorporated by Royal Charter and has received a capital grant from the British Government of over £900,000 contingent on a cess of six pence per bale of cotton used in the country being levied by the cotton trade. The vast majority of those interested in the cotton trade have agreed to this levy and steps are being taken to make its payment compulsory. The object of the Corporation is generally to foster the cultivation of cotton within the Empire. The controlling body consists of representatives of various Home Government Departments, of Governments Overseas and of all sections of the large cotton industry. It has been fortunate to secure the services of Sir James Currie, K.B.E., as its first Director. The Corporation sustained a very severe loss through the untimely death of Mr. James McConnel, the first Chairman of the Executive Council, and Chairman of the Fine Cotton Spinners, to whose foresight, enthusiasm and hard work on and of the Committee the Corporation mostly owes its existence. The Corporation should prove to be a potent agent for encouraging the cultivation of good types of cotton, largely in new regions.

14. I also continued to attend the meetings of the Empire Flax Growing Committee.

15. In June 1921 I was placed on the Executive Council of the British Empire Exhibition. Under the guidance of the High Commissioner a site was provisionally secured for the Indian building. Preliminary estimates of probable expenditure were also prepared and submitted to the Government of India. Possible drawings for the buildings were also obtained for consideration, and every effort made to prepare the way for the Exhibition Commissioner in case India decided to take part. Such a decision was made by Resolution of the Legislative Assembly in March 1922. The Management Committee of the British Empire Exhibition now meets weekly.

16. The Government of India were kept informed of the progress of discussions and views on certain large subjects which might possibly have considerable bearing on Indian trade, e.g., Hague Rules, etc.

17. The office was used as Headquarters by some of the Government of India and Provincial officers who were home on special duty or for special enquiries, e.g., Mr. Henderson who came with a view to organising trials in India of Motor Steam Ploughs and other agricultural implements, Messrs. Heard, Heath and Holme in regard to the British Industries Fair, and Mr. Holme for preliminary enquiries affecting the separate representation of Burma in the British Empire Exhibition.

18. Office organisation.—With the appointment of a High Commissioner for India in September 1920 the office of the Indian Trade Commissioner became directly subordinate to him. This proved of the greatest assistance to the office, by defining more clearly its functions, by establishing more firmly its position, and to me, personally, by making it not such a single handed task. The position of a High Commissioner, with a Trade Commissioner as one of his subordinates, is one well known and recognised in London. Many found it difficult to understand the position of a Trade Commissioner, who appeared to be entirely alone and who only admitted to an indirect subordination to one of the Departments in Whitehall, the India Office. The appointment of a High Commissioner regularised his position in their eyes, and in this way, in addition to the advice, assistance and stimulus which the office has directly received the appointment has been of the greatest advantage to the Trade Commissioner.

19. I have fortunately had more regular help from gazetted assistants than in the first two years of my work. Mr. Rice who joined in September 1919 continued with me, and in July 1920, Mr. B. D. Asli from the Bombay Secretariat joined the office. His arrival had long been looked for, as I had been promised a permanent Indian Assistant and had been expecting him for two years. Dr. Coggin Brown of the Geological Survey who was attached to this office and also instructed to represent India on the Imperial Mineral Resources Bureau went on leave in September 1921 preparatory to returning to India. Mention has already been made of some of his work. He also dealt with all enquiries affecting metals and minerals which came into the office and was extraordinarily successful in gaining the confidence and good opinions of business men. He was succeeded by Mr. Fox who is following on the same lines.

20. In 1920 the clerical establishment was almost entirely recast owing to the retirement of the ladies, who had helped us during the war and their substitution by ex-service men. The staff is paid on the sanctioned Treasury scale. The work was entirely new to each one of them ; but they have all worked with keenness and interest. I would especially mention Mr. Butler for his work on wheat and Mr. Barlow for the enthusiasm with which he has attended to the general information. Mr. Faignes and Mr. Berry in more monotonous posts have worked carefully and been prepared to meet a rush cheerfully. Miss Ellis has been invaluable in her sphere and is the only one now left of those who originally joined the office. The occupants of most of the other posts have changed three or four times. The total cost of the office, including all salaries and all charges, was in each of these financial years £8,328 and £9,158, respectively.

21. The object of the office is to strive in all ways, within the limitations mentioned in paragraph 3 above, to aid Indian industries and Indian trade. The work is fascinating in its variety and much of it is done by personal interview. It is on the whole the small definite enquiries which appear to be the most important. The prompt answering of these, some of them apparently exceedingly small, have brought the most generous thanks from business men; whilst the omnibus enquiry or the vague one which may have occupied much time to answer frequently leads to nothing. Whatever assistance an office such as this can give depends very largely on the extent to which commercial business men use it, and their criticisms and suggestions are welcomed. In both these lines they have certainly placed me under a very deep debt of obligation. Visits from business men and manufacturers when they come over from India are especially welcome as it is from them that the latest views of business conditions and business thought in India can be obtained. It also gives an opportunity to explain the scope of the office. We have throughout received the utmost help from all the Home Departments of State with which we have had dealings, from Chambers of Commerce and Trade Associations, whilst the business houses themselves have attended to our education. An office of general contact between the commercial community and the Government Departments and not one of administration can be of service both to the Government and to the business world.

PART VI.

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly, and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 6th September 1922 :—

No. 24 OF 1922.

BILL

to remove the restrictions imposed on the transfer of ships registered in British India.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove the restrictions imposed on the transfer of ships registered in British India ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Indian Transfer of Ships Restriction (Repealing) Act, 192 .

Repeal of Act XX of 1917.

2. The Indian Transfer of Ships Restriction Act, 1917, is hereby repealed XX of 1917.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Indian Transfer of Ships Restriction Act, 1917, was enacted on the lines of the British Ships Restriction Act, 1915 and 1916, with a view to preventing transfers to alien interests of ships registered in India under the British Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and like the United Kingdom Acts, it was to remain in force until three years after the termination of the war, that is to say until the 31st August 1924.

2. When the Indian Act was passed, tonnage was in keen demand and practically the whole of British Shipping was under control for essential war purposes. There was, therefore, considerable inducement to transfer registry in order to avoid impressment and to secure open rates of freight. It also seemed inevitable that for several years after the war the supply of tonnage would not equal the demand. Conditions have, however, so completely altered, that each of these factors is now entirely inoperative, and the necessity for an enactment of this kind no longer exists. It has therefore been decided to repeal this Act as an unnecessary restriction on freedom of trade. The present Bill purports to give effect to this decision.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 6th September 1922 :—

No. 21 OF 1922.

A

Bill

further to amend the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 ; It is hereby enacted as follows : — XXVI of 1881

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Amendment of section 131, Act XXVI of 1881.

2. To section 131 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the following Explanation shall be added, namely :— XXVI of 1881

"Explanation.—A banker receives payment of a crossed cheque for a customer within the meaning of this section notwithstanding that he credits his customer's account with the amount of the cheque before receiving payment thereof."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 131 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, provides that a banker who has in good faith and without negligence received payment for a customer of a crossed cheque shall not, in case the title to the cheque proves defective, incur any liability to the true owner of the cheque by reason only of having received such payment. The law at present affords no protection to a banker who credits a customer's account with the amount of a cheque before its realization, as he cannot then be regarded as having received payment for a customer. It is proposed that the law should be amended on the lines of the English Bills of Exchange (Crossed Cheque) Act of 1906 in order to extend the protection to collecting bankers in cases where they credit their customer's account with the amount of a cheque before receiving payment of it.

NOTICE.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorised by the Secretary of State for India in Council to announce that the new age limits for the Indian Civil Service Open Competition in this country, viz., 21 to 23 on the 1st August of the year of competition, will come into force for the Open Competition to be held in 1925, not in 1924 as previously announced. For the Open Competitions to be held in 1923 and 1924 the age limits will be 21 to 24 on the 1st August of the year of competition, these years (with 1922) constituting a transition period from the old to the new age limits. The rule contained in the appendix to the current regulations, by which a maximum of one year's deduction from actual age is allowed in certain cases on account of war-service, will remain in force for the Competitions of 1922 and 1923.

The probationary course of selected candidates, before proceeding to India, will be extended to two years in the case of all candidates selected on the result of the Open Competition to be held in 1925; and a proportion of the younger candidates selected on the result of the Open Competitions to be held in 1922, 1923 and 1924 will also be required to undergo two years' probation in the United Kingdom.

As the scheme and syllabus of the examination as lately revised may be expected to prove well adapted to their purpose under the new age limits it is not intended to make any material change unless experience shows that modification is required; the Regulations are always, however, liable to alteration from year to year.

REGULATIONS.

 The following Regulations, made by the Secretary of State for India in Council, are liable to alteration from year to year.

1. An examination for admission to the Indian Civil Service, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London in July and August of each year for such number of appointments to that Service as the Secretary of State may on each occasion determine. The date of the Examination will be announced beforehand by the Civil Service Commissioners.

2. Save as hereinafter provided a candidate must be a British subject. If the candidate (being a British subject) or his father or his mother was not born within His Majesty's Dominions and allegiance then at the time of his birth his father must have been a British subject or the subject of a state in India and such father must be or must have continued to be until his death a British subject or the subject of such state in India. Provided that a ruler or subject of any state in India in respect of whom the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under section 96A of the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by section 3 of the Government of India (Amendment) Act, 1916, may be considered eligible.

3. A candidate must have attained the age of twenty-one, and must not have attained the age of twenty-four on the first day of August of the year in which the Examination is held, or must be in a position to claim such a concession under the provisions of the Appendix to these Regulations as will render him eligible.*

The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries in the case of any candidate should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects he will be ineligible for admission to the Indian Civil Service, and, if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements :—

(i) Selected candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii) Except in the case of persons continuing to receive Scholarship allowances of equal or greater amounts from the Government of India an allowance of £300 a year or in the case of Selected Candidates possessing an Indian domicile, an allowance of £350 a year will be given to any candidate who passes his probation at one of the Universities or other Institutions that have been approved for the purpose by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

In the case of Selected Candidates on probation for two years the allowance will be payable in eight equal instalments, the first on the December 24th after selection, the second to the seventh on the six following quarter days and the eighth after signature of Covenant on appointment to the Service.

The payment of the various instalments of the allowance except the final instalment and, in the case of the two-year probationers, the instalment payable at the end of the first year of probation will be conditional on the receipt by the Secretary of State through the Civil Service Commissioners of a certificate that the candidate has fulfilled up to the date the requirements of the authorities and shown satisfactory conduct at the approved institution.

The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

N.B.—The Secretary of State for India gives notice that the amount of the allowances will be reconsidered in 1923, with a view to a possible reduction with effect from the instalment payable in December, 1924.

(iii) A 1st class passage to India will be engaged for Selected Candidates with a view to their proceeding to India during the November following their Final Examination.

(1) his failure to pass the Final Examination within the time prescribed by the Regulations, and to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his fitness for admission to the Indian Civil Service, or

(2) his subsequent failure to execute the usual covenant, and to proceed to India, as and when he shall be directed by the Secretary of State for India.

(v) All candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenant by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force they may be required to make, for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(vi) The seniority in the I.C.S. will be determined by the results of the examinations taken and the reports on law cases submitted during the course of probation.

(vii) Candidates who fail to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners at the Final Examination held in any year will be definitely rejected, and will not be allowed to present themselves for re-examination, unless it shall appear to the Secretary of State in Council, after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, that such failure is due to circumstances wholly exceptional and beyond the control of the candidate.
